Dave,
I have enjoyed knowing you so much. You are one of the greatest boys that I have ever met. I certainly hope we can get together for this summer and even through the same school won't be going to the same school next year. I hope we can continue to be friends. I had so much fun at Homecoming. Dance and I will never forget it. Please stay as nice as you are now. Good Luck always and May God Always Bless You.

Mood . . .
blurred in the passing of many days
Only fragments returning, sharp-edged, vivid, restored
by a word
a treasured souvenir
a face.

Joy
singing in young voices
Shining eyes
and laughter
Eager—to dance, to shout
and running, stop and sigh
in gasps of breathlessness and wonder.

Thoughtfulness
wrapped in solitude
Shadows intermingled, sifting
Study, formless repetition, reason, order, chaos
pondering
Pausing in the quiet to listen.

Sorrow
piercing again in memory
Tears, shed alone
or with the noisy sympathy of the crowd
Cold words
and emptiness of silence.

Mood
blurred in the passing of many days
Portrait of a year in feeling.

Dave,
Have the best skies & know you have excellent grades and personality. I will always you should lead a very successful life. Lots of luck - Eric Tales

Dave, It has been a pleasure being in bookkeeping with you. You are so very friendly. Have fun in years to come, and much luck in the future. Cheers Joe

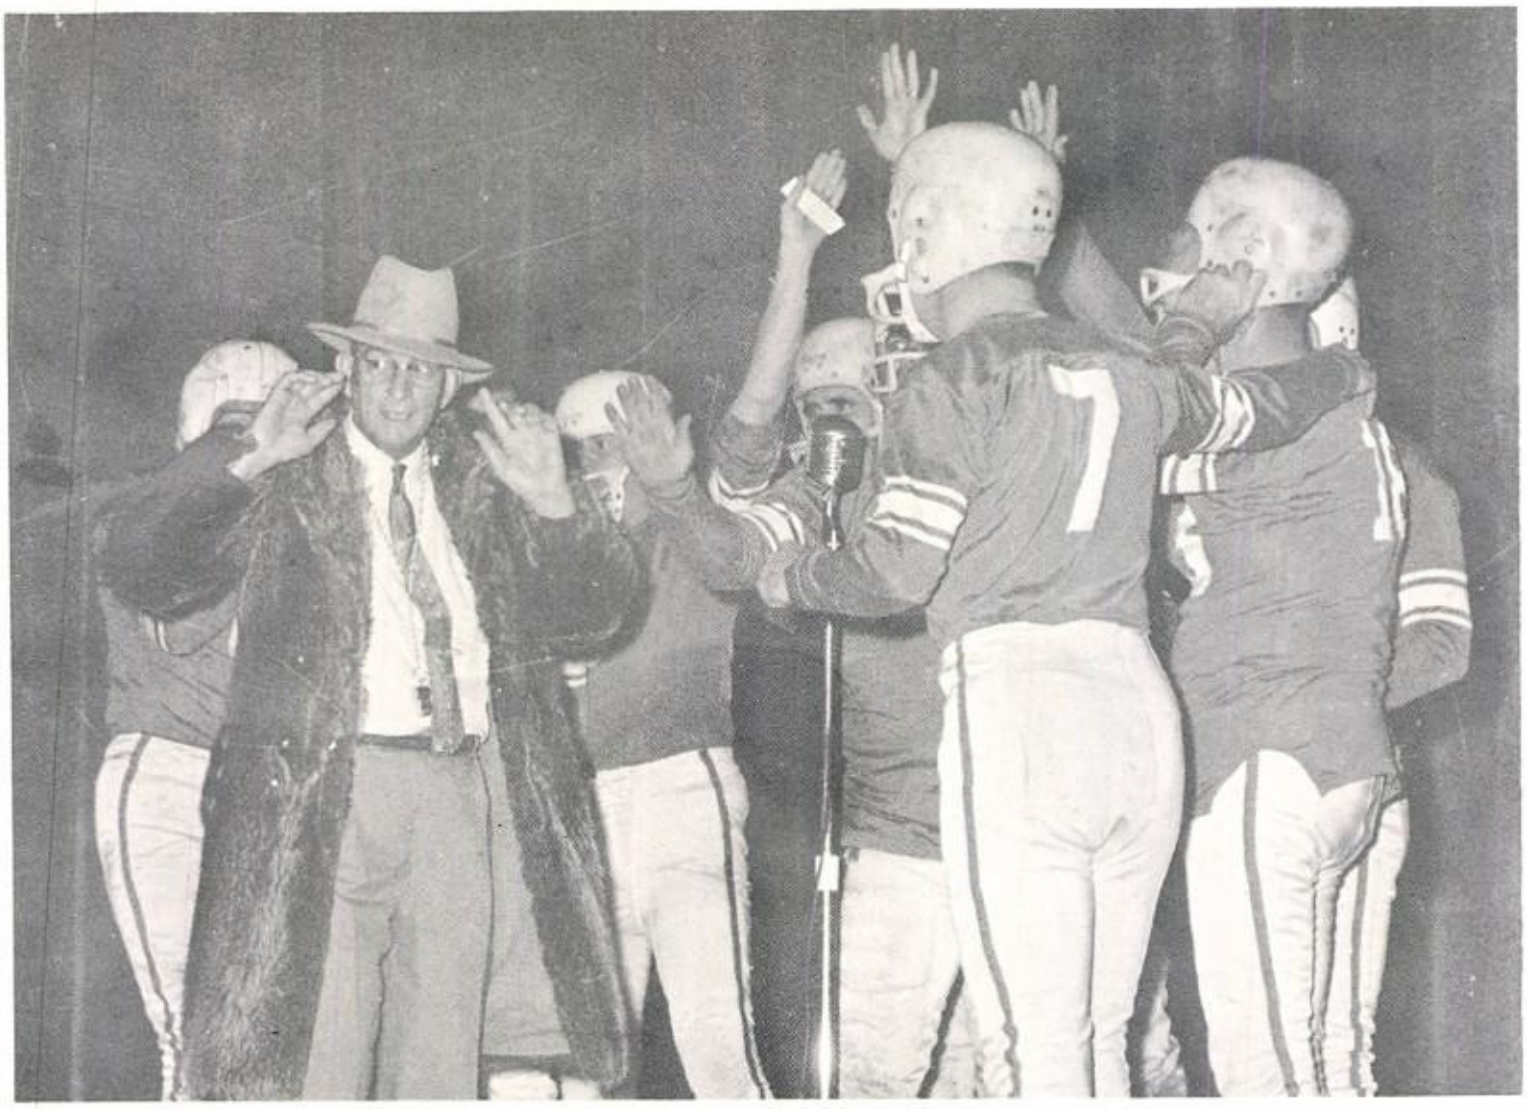
Dedication



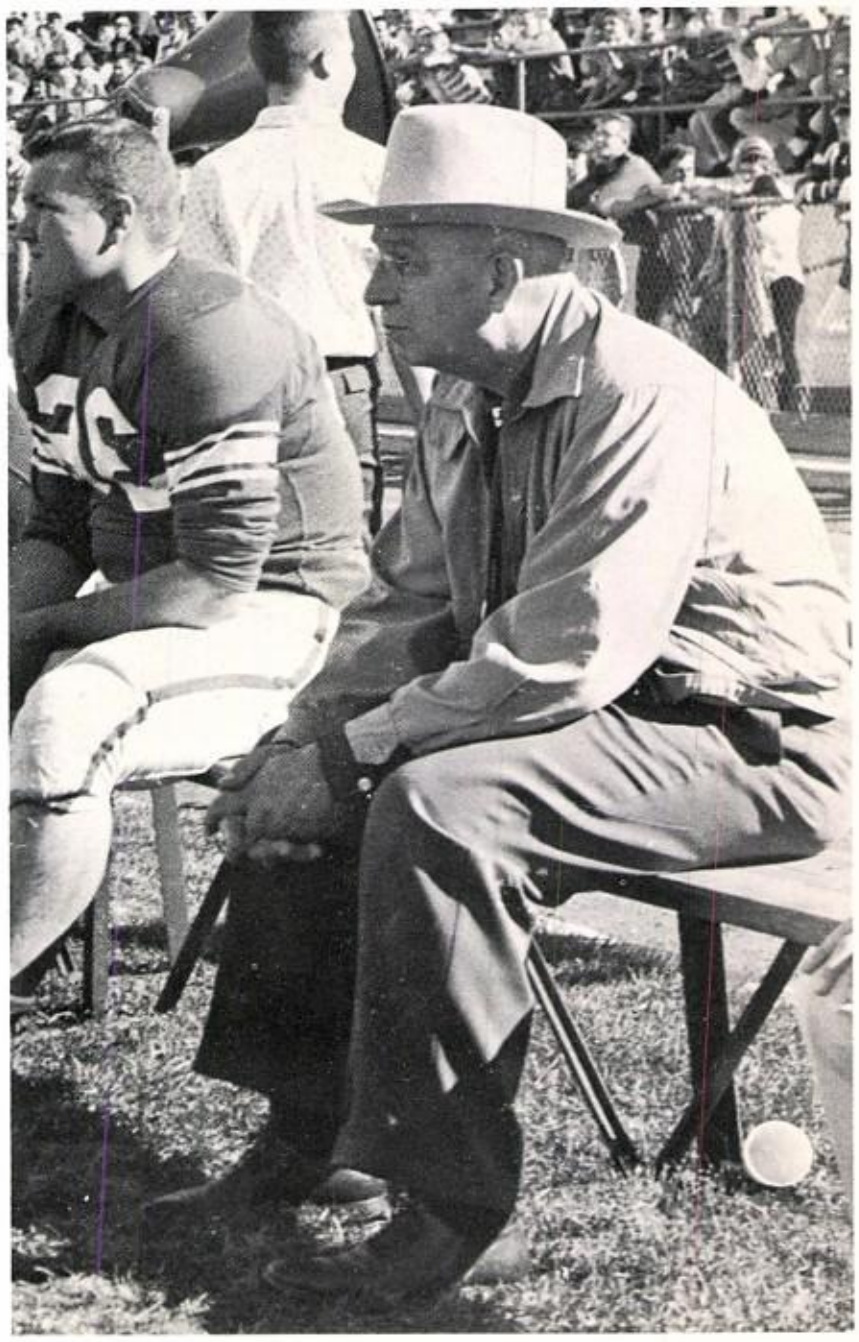
Joseph Lort

Principal 1949-1960

Mr. Lort came to South in 1949 after having served as principal of North High for four years, and as a teacher, boys' adviser and principal at Skinner Junior High. In addition to this varied experience Mr. Lort brought with him a warm smile, a sincere interest in young people and their activities, and a special affection for South Denver, where he has lived since childhood. He graduated from the original South High and from the University of Denver, and did graduate work at Columbia before returning here to teach.

As our principal, Mr. Lort has supported the school athletic teams and academic competitors with confidence and enthusiasm, given understanding and friendly help with our problems, and has often entered into the spirit of student projects. The only South principal ever to be faced with a twelve-period day and a student body of over three thousand, he has shown unfailing cheerfulness and optimism concerning school progress. Through his leadership he has earned a place in the hearts of the school and the community.

We hope, Mr. Lort, that as you look back on your years at South you will remember your thousands of children with as much affection as we will remember you. It is with love and admiration that we dedicate this 1960 Johnny Reb to you.



5/31/60

Dave,
It's sure been nice
Knowing you this last semester.
I hope to see more of you in
De Molay and at school next Fall.
Good Luck!

Rallies

Fight! Fight! Fight! was the cry of every Rebel at rallies held before football and basketball games. The infectious spirit of the cheerleaders and the vivacious whirling of the "Pom-Pom" girls keyed the student body to a high pitch of excitement. After coaches of the teams added encouragement and assurance, South's Number-One Rebel Rouser, Mr. Lort, received standing ovations for his customary pep talks. Humorous and satirical skits by faculty and students always gave the supporters a hilarious preview of the game.

A South Sea skirt must be rather cool in northern latitudes for Viking maiden Sharon Thompson, who moments later narrowly escaped a Southern lawnmower.

Mr. Carr pumps repeated shots from his muzzle-loader into hosts of Angels from East and refuses to lower the Rebel banner, shouting "The South shall rise again!"

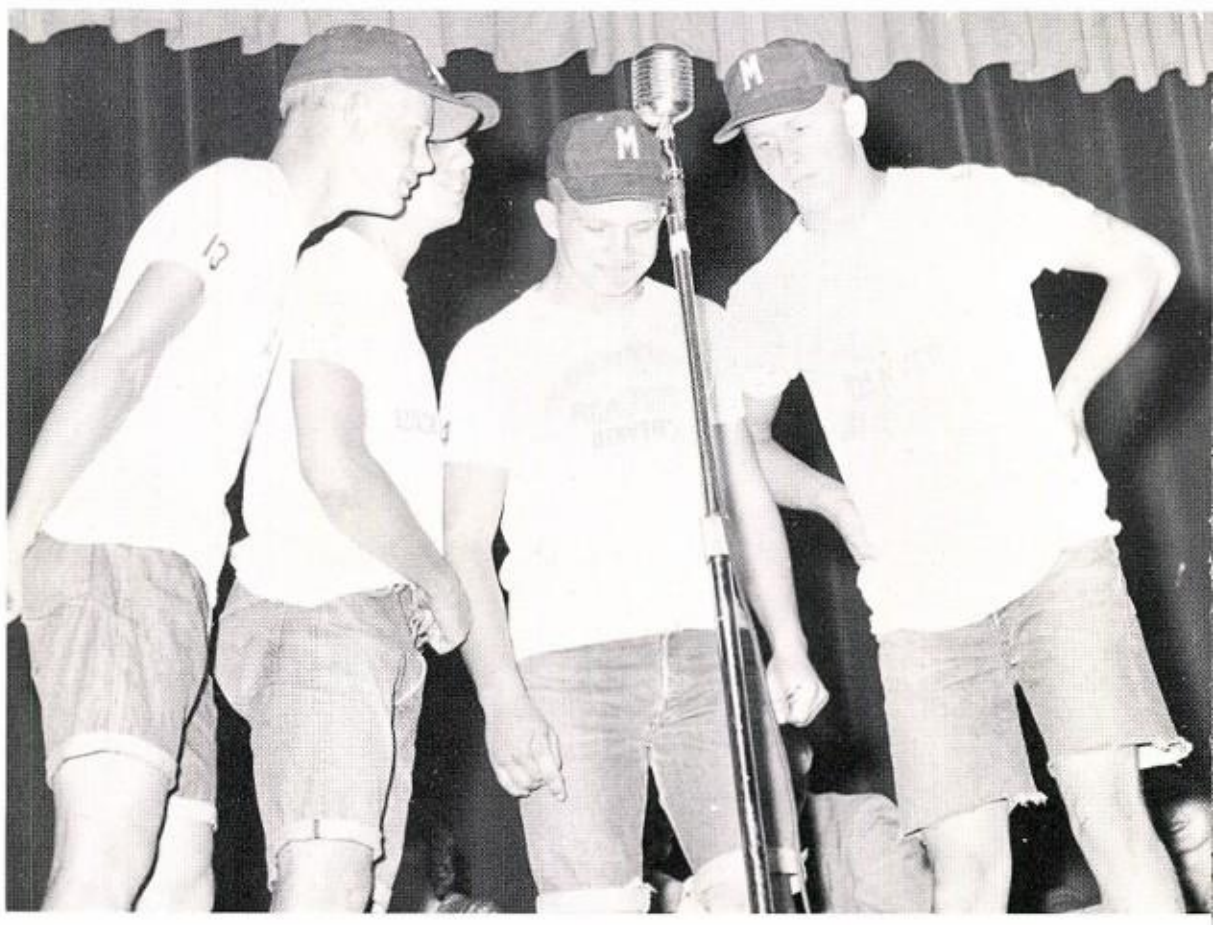
From the balcony one can see a surging sea of paper as the Pep Club flourishes shakers and the audience jumps to its feet in response to a rousing "Dixie" air.

Assemblies

Assemblies have a variety of purposes during the year. At the beginning of school the Student Council presented an assembly to acquaint the student body with the school officers and to explain the duties and responsibilities of the Council.

On October 15 the International Relations Club of South, whose purpose is to promote a better understanding of international affairs, presented Terry Rand, one of the American All-Star basketball players who toured Russia in 1958. Mr. Rand spoke on his trip and showed interesting slides to complement his talk. Both of these assemblies were informative and purposeful, and helped to make better school citizens.

Head Boy Bob Bishop, presiding over the Student Council Assembly, welcomes the new sophomores to South.



Bill Walden, Bob Johnston, Denny Reitz and Neil Hutcheson, disguised as baseball players, render "Coney Island Baby" and "Pootie Poo" for the Student Council Assembly.

After the United Nations assembly Terry Rand and Mr. Lort discuss the details of the All-Star team's trip to Russia.

Confederate Assembly

On October 28 the stage was set for a visit to Africa. John Perdew, one of South's head debaters and top scholars, described his summer's journey to many parts of the Dark Continent. John was one of ten students in the nation chosen to participate in the month-long sojourn. Slides of his fascinating trip enriched the talk he presented in the Confederate Assembly. Students especially enjoyed the program because it was from the actual experience of one of South's outstanding Rebels.

The mysterious magic of Africa is revealed through slides and a narrative sketch by John Perdew.

Letterman's Assembly

Teammates in football, tennis, golf, and ross-country held places of honor on the tage as Rebels assembled to honor the ath-etes who had represented South so well. Approximately 100 boys received letters or ertificates of recognition for the excellent portsmanship and ability that they dis-layed. Coaches Wertz and Diner presented hese awards to varsity football members, nd Coach Dick Yates recognized a large roup of promising sophomores. Mr. Mielenz, who ably managed golf, tennis, and cross-ountry to bring honors to South in all three, ave letters to his deserving competitors. very Rebel gathered to give recognition to hese boys who made such outstanding con-ibutions to the Rebel tradition.

Co-captains Jeff Robinson and Dave Magnuson proudly present a subscription to World Tennis to Coach Mielenz for his leadership, which so ably guided the tennis team.

Thanksgiving Assembly

With an air of reverence and thankfulness, South students gathered together on November 25 to hear Reverend LeRoy King from Grace Methodist Church speak on a Thanksgiving theme. Hi-Y, a Christian organization for young men, sponsored this assembly and in addition rendered service to the community with their collection and distribution of canned goods to needy families in Denver.

Rev. LeRoy King imparts the spirit of Thanksgiving in his message to all faiths.

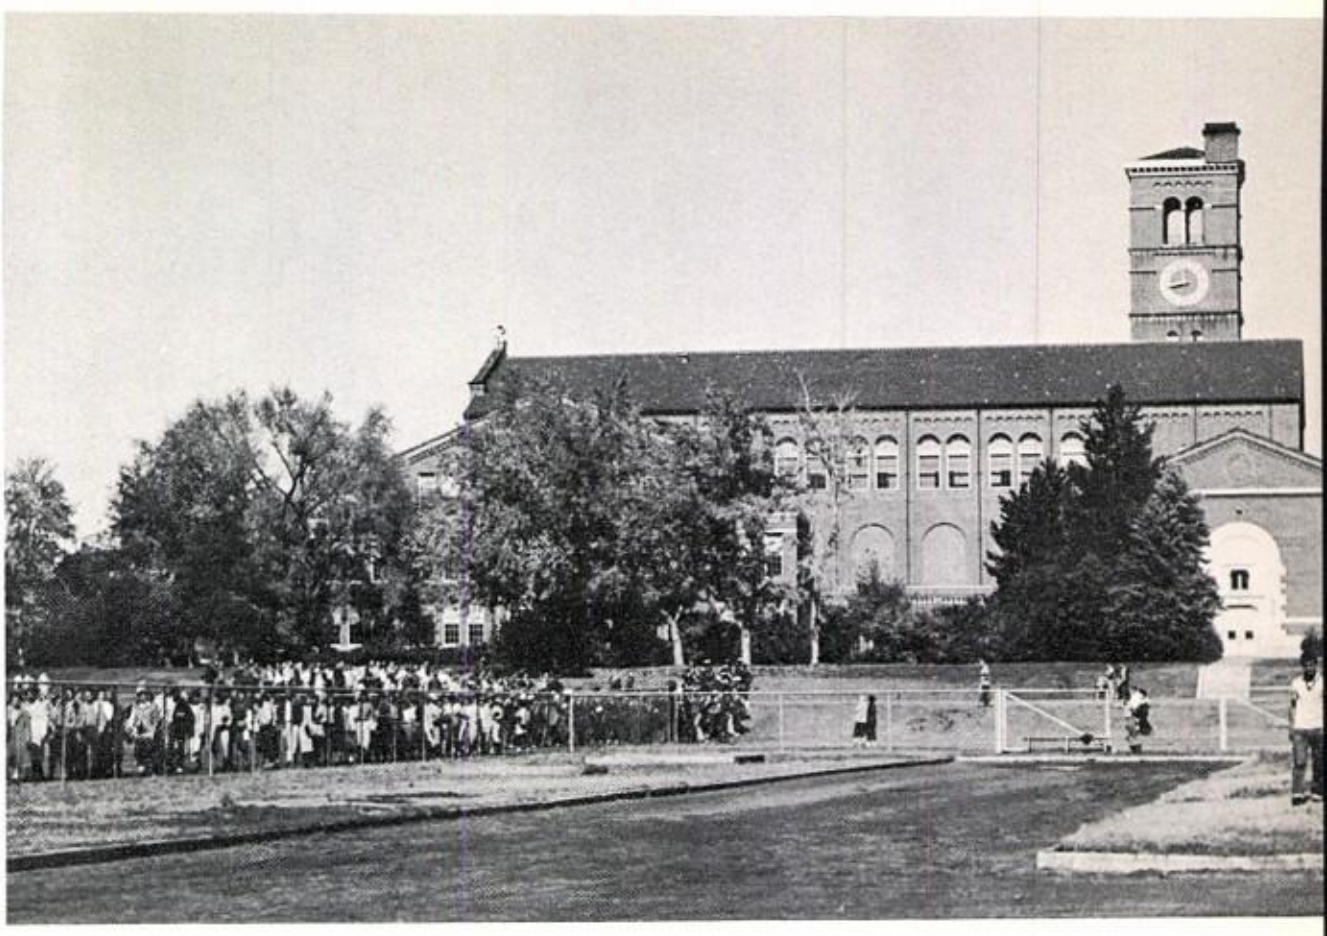
Christmas Concert

Traditionally the Christmas Concert is one of the finest and most impressive assemblies of the year. Perhaps in no other assembly are there so many participants — the number exceeded 400. Under the direction of Mr. Dana Wells and Mrs. Clarice Williams, the Mixed Chorus, Girls' Choir, Girls' Ensemble, Beginning Choir and Concert Choir sang spirituals, traditional carols, modern and classical selections.

The robed choral groups inspire the audience, calling to mind the true meaning of Christmas.

Roundup

Hundreds of enthusiastic Rebels crowded into the faculty parking lot before the East-South game for refreshments and a rally. Two of South's smallest supporters were present to add their voices to the cheers. In uniform to lead the procession to the stadium were the cheerleaders, "Pom-Pom" girls, Pep Club and band. The "S" Club and Key Club boys formed a long corridor for the high-spirited marchers.

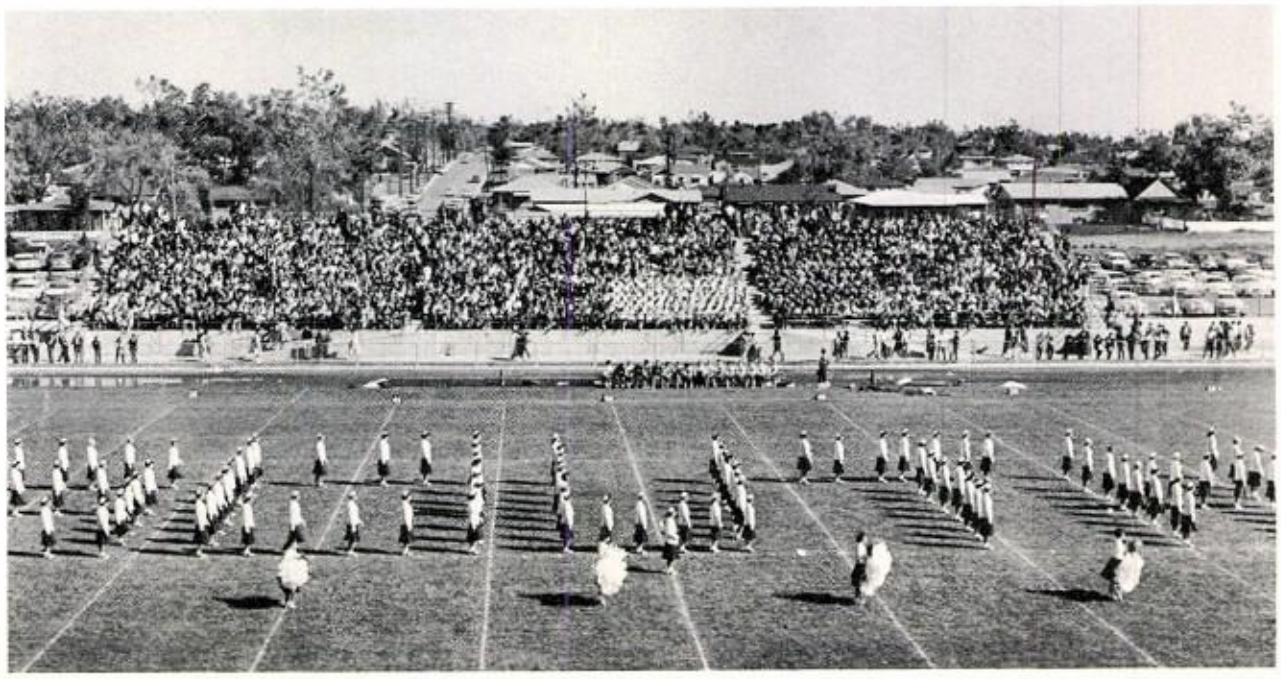


Riding high after their Roundup, the Rebs form a long gray line to the stadium as they prepare to battle with East.

"Me and my shadow," say the "Pom-Pom" girls, as mascots Ken and Raney whirl, jump and cavort for the crowd.

Pep Club Drill

"Carrying a message from the South to the East" was the theme of the half-time exhibition presented by the South High Pep Club on October 17. The message first traveled on a steamboat of Pep Club girls to the Far East, where a rickshaw continued the journey across the continent. The scroll containing the message then unwound, and the girls revealed their secret with the information of the word "SOUTH." Many long hours of hard work and practice by Mrs. Lyon and Miss Floyd, sponsors; Judy McClung, drill leader; Heidi Markisen, writer of the script; and all the Pep Club members made this spectacular demonstration possible.



The Pep Club girls spell out the secret message, "SOUTH," which they carried halfway around the world in their marching exhibition.

Mother-Daughter Tea

The annual fashion show and tea, held on May 5, had an enthusiastic attendance of mothers and daughters. Pep Club members modeled sportswear, school clothes, cocktail dresses and formal evening wear for an audience of five hundred mothers and daughters. A tea was then given in South Court by the Pep Club. Robin Morris, fashion show chairman, and Shirley Hawkins, Pep Club president, made this another successful activity of their club.

Jack Leingang apparently doesn't realize he's a most lucky fellow to be escorting sparkling Pep Club co-ordinator Robin Morris in the annual spring fashion show.

Lovely flowers, delicious punch and helpful Pep Club girls made the Sophomore Tea a memorable event.

Sophomore Tea

A "Rustic Welcome" was given to all sophomore girls by the Pep Club on September 24. The new girls were introduced to Southern Customs and enjoyed the performances of a mixed quartet and a Dixieland ensemble. Refreshments were then served by the peppy hostesses. This activity gave the sophomore girls an opportunity to get acquainted with the Pep Club and their new senior high classmates.

Mama keeps close tabs on both the cat and the boyfriend as she passes through the parlor.

Drama Club Play

Set in the era of the early 1900's, "Years Ago" depicted a stage-struck young girl's ambitions to be an actress. The Drama Club spent several months rehearsing the hilarious three-act play, which was held on November 20 under the direction of Mrs. Nordstrom. Southern Masqueraders worked on publicity, tickets, programs and production while Stage Crew designed the effective backdrops. Pep Club usherettes rendered service to complete the theatrical production. The performance, enjoyed by over 600 teachers, friends and students, was the first Drama Club presentation since 1957.

"That girl is not going to the wicked city!"

Mrs. Nordstrom, Gary Taylor and Drama Club members talk about their coming production of "Years Ago" amidst ladders and just-begun scenery.

Music Concerts

The Instrumental Concert, traditionally held during Music Week, was the result of long hours of practice by members of Concert Band and Concert Orchestra. Students enjoyed excerpts from "Oklahoma" and a rousing march played by Concert Band in a morning assembly. That evening, January 19, parents, faculty and students gathered to hear both groups present several musical selections under the direction of Mr. Forest Goff. The quality of the Instrumental Concert indicated the excellent training and diligent practice on the part of many already accomplished musicians.

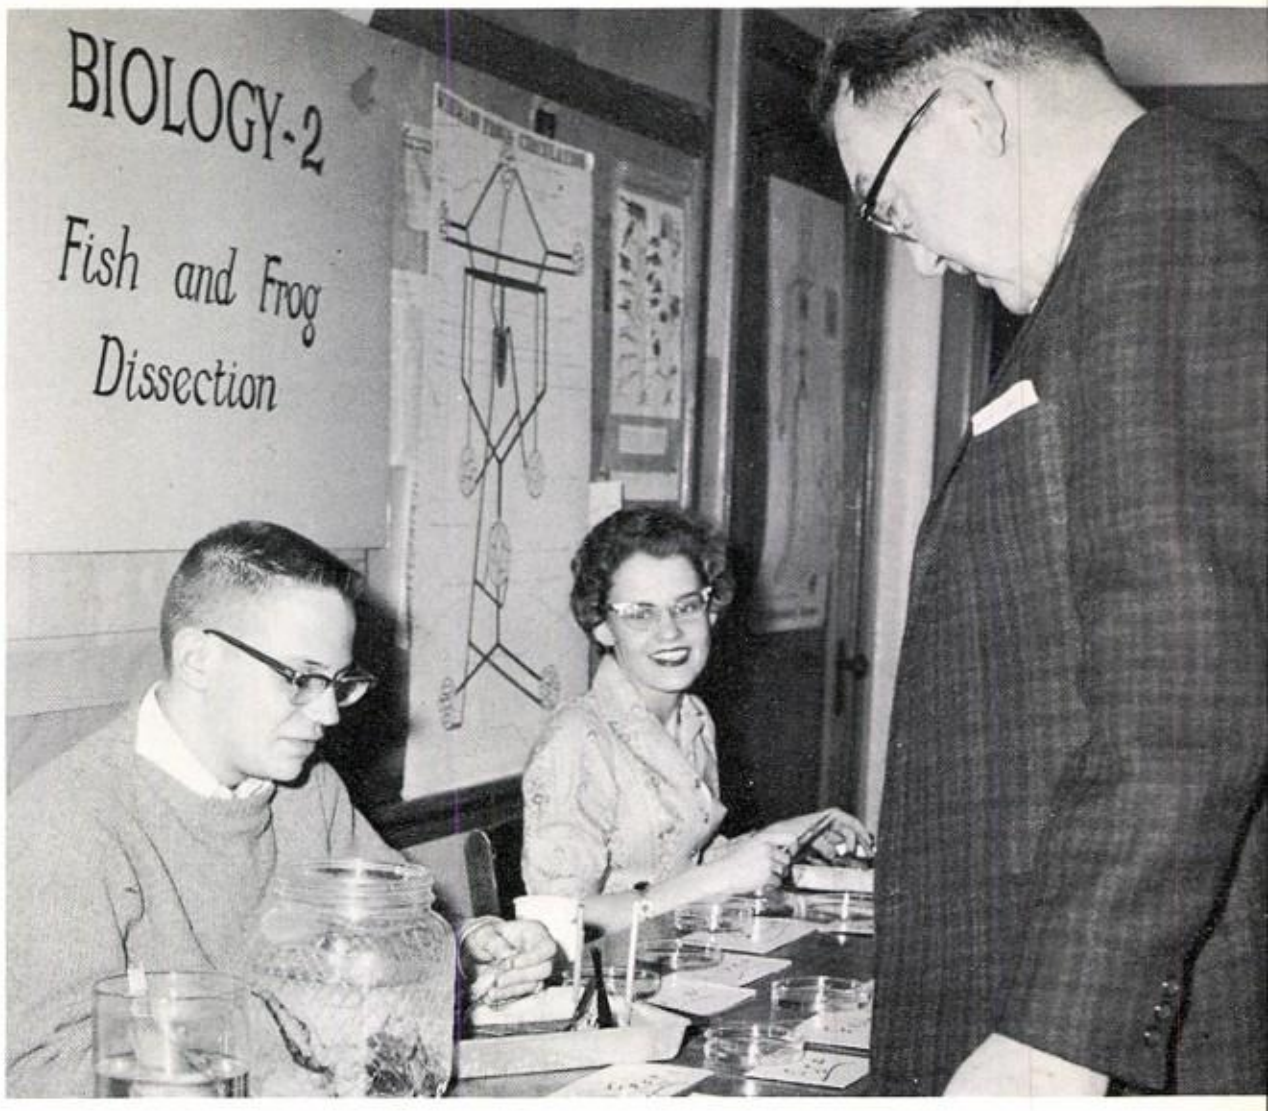
The climax of the many hours spent in practice and performance was the Vocal Concert on May 10. Students heard many of the groups perform for South for the last time. Participating in the program were Concert and Beginning Choir, Ensemble, Mixed Chorus, and Girls' Choir which have a total of about 350 members. Under the direction of Mr. Dana Wells and Mrs. Clarice Williams, the choirs gave an excellent performance to end the year's activities.

Orchestra members practice with intense concentration for the coming concert.

Concert Choir, Mixed Chorus, and Ensemble blend their combined voices in the finale of the Spring Vocal Concert.

Science Fair

Chosen as one of the top ten science departments in the country last year, South's department of science has been no less outstanding in 1960. At the Science Fair held March 3rd, students of physics, chemistry and biology classes exhibited a variety of displays ranging from demonstration of the nuclear reaction in an atomic submarine to the study of waves and the laws of refraction. Hundreds of interested parents and friends were impressed by the knowledge of South High science students and the quality of the displays shown.



Contrary to many boys' opinions, the dissection of frogs is an interesting subject to girls as well as to parents at the Science Fair.

Mr. Flanders, aided by Jackie Goff, Evie Olson and June Lewinson, charts Career Day choices for March 17.

Career Day

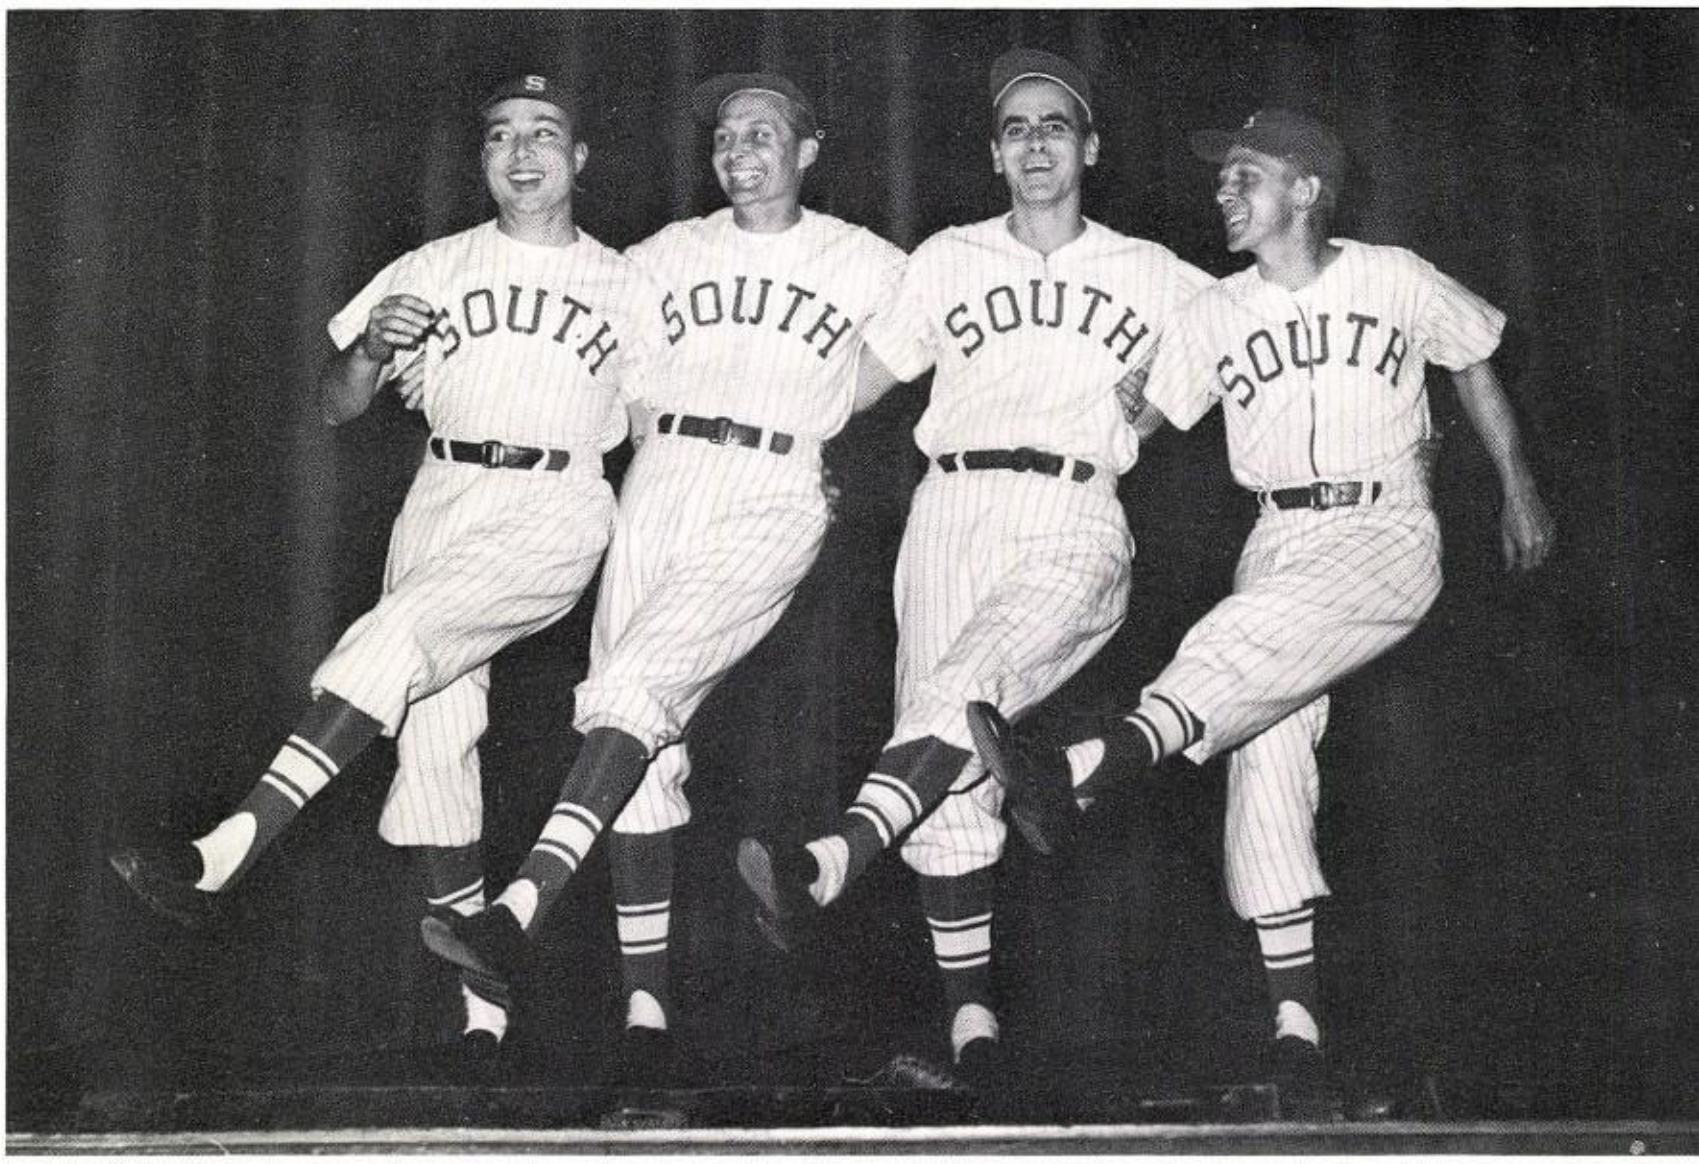
Career Day offered an excellent opportunity for seniors and juniors to explore vocations in several fields, including medicine, social work, journalism and teaching. Professional and skilled representatives of various occupations conducted workshops on March 17 to inform and instruct students in various aspects of their professions. Through the efforts of Mr. Flanders, Pep Club girls and the various speakers, Career Day was a valuable experience for any South student who will soon be entering the business world.

Ladders, chalk and the artistic talents of Judy Brehm and Ethel McDowd produced the beautiful backdrops for the All-School Show.

Have Fun-- Will Travel

The lights dimmed at exactly 8:00 p.m. as the All-School Show Orchestra vigorously opened "Have Fun—Will Travel." The show proceeded with smooth precision and perfection as the audience of parents and students toured America via Manhattan, New Orleans, and 'Frisco. Three fabulous acts displayed the versatility of Southern performers as they changed from the sophisticated mood of New York to the merry atmosphere of New Orleans and the exotic mood of San Francisco's Chinatown.

Behind the scenes the stage crew made sets and controlled the "ropes" while Mr. Wells and Mr. Goff developed the musical scores. Mr. Mitick and Mr. Graber co-ordinated the script and the cast of over 175 to make the production professional in its quality. The many hours of work and rehearsal were evident in the performances held on February 18 and 19.



Mr. Seiler, Mr. Carr, Mr. Page and Mr. Brandhorst of the Old Timers' Quartet show excellent dance-line form while straining their tonsils in an effort to reach the high notes of "You Gotta Have Heart."

Bill Wodrich paints a word picture of Manhattan magic for Sue Peters and the audience.

"Why don't you go outside and play, kid?" Carla Patterson says as she gives her impression of a champagne flight.

Marsha Dyer says, "Aye Aye, sir," to Dick Ray as they have a fling in the big city.

Purple And White Day Show

The grand finale of the talent performances of South was the Purple and White Day Show. One of the year's best productions, Sea Scape disproved the superstition that Friday the 13th is unlucky as the show progressed with smooth perfection to the crowning of the class queen.

After winning in competitive auditions, the acts from the three classes, sophomore, junior and senior, practiced diligently to present their talent on behalf of their class to honor the royal court. Traditionally the President of Folio Leaves begins the show with a monologue. After President Dave Isaac opened the show, the class queens were crowned as the silent audience watched with anticipation. Amid the sobs of dateless senior girls Sea Scape began the 1960 Purple and White Day festivities.

Sophomore Dance

On October 21 the Sophomore Class held their first senior high get-together, "Rhythm Rhapsody." The music of the Blue Notes floated across the gaily decorated gym for the enjoyment of the sophomores and their dates from eight to eleven p.m., and talented members of the class presented acts to further enliven the evening.

Homecoming Dance

"Tempos in T Formation" was the theme of the Homecoming Dance held on October 10. Both gyms were uniquely decorated with a web of purple and white streamers, and the tempos of Hoagie Harper and Bob Capelli enhanced the enjoyment of hundreds of couples. Our football team contributed to the success of the evening with their 25-6 victory over North. Evie Olson, dance chairman, and the Pep Club worked many hours to make Homecoming reflect the tempo of South to a T.

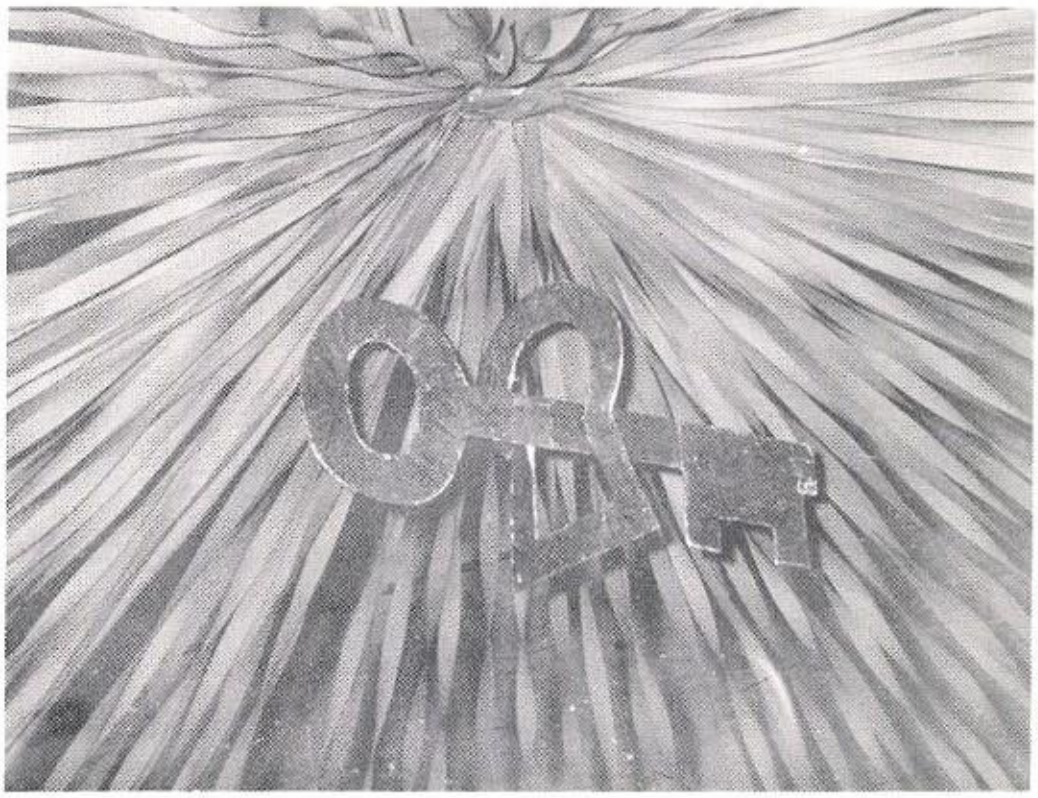
White mums, accented by letters and bows, sit in readiness for the big Homecoming Dance.

The backdrop receives final touches from Pep Club girls preparing for "Tempos in T Formation."

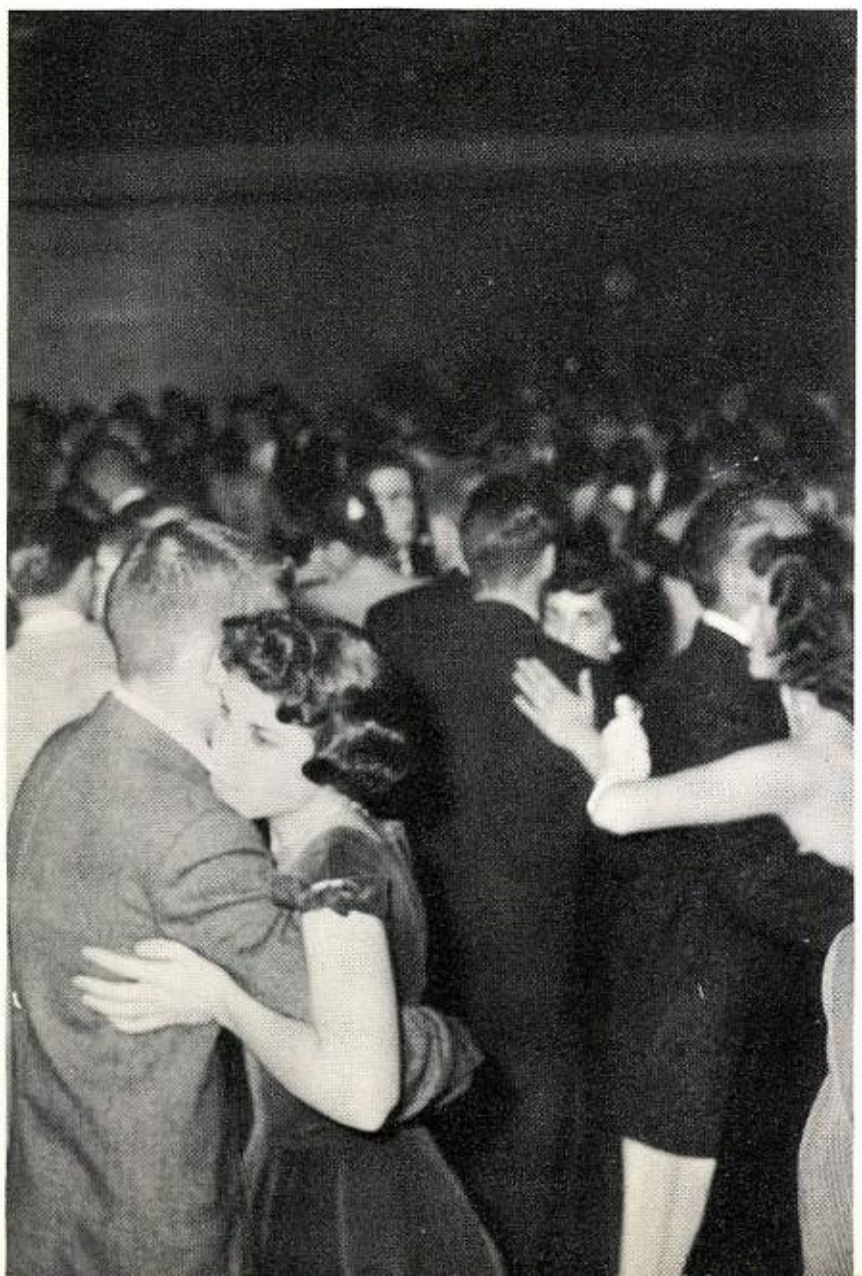
Key Klub Klomp

The mellow melodies of Wayne Case and orchestra float over Key Klub Klomp to create an atmosphere of blue and gold in the gaily decorated gym.

Under streamers of gold and blue, Southern couples danced to the music of Wayne Case and his orchestra from nine until the magic hour of twelve. The traditional Klomp, sponsored by Key Club, was planned by dance chairman Steve Nellis with the help of fellow members and held on November 14. Presidents of other Key Clubs in the city were welcome guests of honor. An additional attraction at the dance was singer Bob Swanson, South High Rebel, who sang "Igloo," a song which he recently recorded.



A huge key dominates decorations in the boys' gym, emphasizing Key Club's dedication to service as one of the gateways to successful living.



Fantasia

The Denver University Student Union was the setting for Fantasia on January 28. Couples attired in semi-formal dress danced to the orchestra of Bob Capelli. Sponsored by the All-City Student Council, the gala affair was an effort to bring students from every school together to enjoy an evening of fun. Over three hundred couples attended from the hours of nine to twelve.

The hour of twelve is ready to strike for this Cinderella at Fantasia as the enchantment draws swiftly to a close.

Skip Jump and Jim Hoops carefully lift the big toe of Bob Johnston, who looks tickled, as Mike Marsh watches to make sure that "Athlete's Feat" is well publicized.

Athlete's Feat

Traditionally Athlete's Feat is undertaken by the "S" Club. Couples were guided to the April 23 spring activity by the large imprints of athletes' feet. At the hour of nine, the music of Del Turner set all toes to dancing until the clock neared twelve.

A high point of the dance was the presentation of a gift to Mr. Lort in appreciation of his avid support and interest in athletics at South. Members of "S" Club worked diligently to add another Athlete's Feat to the long list they have accomplished.

Cupid's Beau

Cupid's Beau hit many hearts on the night of February 13th. In keeping with Leap Year customs, the dance offered a rare turn-about opportunity for the girls to snag their men. The gals had to ask dates and make fragrant corsages of vegetables for their beaus. Snowy weather did not dampen the Valentine spirit of over 300 couples as they danced from nine to twelve to the melodic music of John Timmins and his orchestra. Under a red and white web of streamers and a shower of Cupid's arrows, many Southern men fell mortally wounded in spite of their previous efforts to escape his power.

South's Jack and Jill, Jack Scheu and Jill Young, forage for a souvenir in the closing moments of Cupid's Beau.

Robin Lawson

Junior Prom Queen

Junior Prom

Charming and vivacious Robin Lawson was crowned queen of the Junior Prom at the formal ball of the Class of '61 held on December 5. Six candidates, including Robin, were selected from a number of hopeful girls. She then entered a final competition with Mary Emanuel and Gwen Gamel.

At the "Emerald Illusion" created for 250 starry-eyed junior couples, Queen Robin reigned from nine to midnight with her royal court, Princesses Mary and Gwen. Enhancing the formal evening was the melodious music of the "K" Men. Glittering green decorations cast an emerald touch of magic through the Denver University Student Union, providing an enchanting background for exquisite gowns, lovely flowers and entranced couples.

Senior Prom

From over fifteen candidates, Robin Morris, Ruth Ann Robertson and Mary Bliss were chosen to rule over the Senior Prom of the Class of 1960. The reigning queen and her princesses were elected by the seniors for their popularity, beauty and personality. The charm and friendliness of Queen Robin made her the ideal representative of all senior girls and the dream girl of all senior boys.

With her vivacious attendants, Robin governed a magical new kingdom in the fabulous ballroom of the new Denver Hilton Hotel. Although this enchanted night of May 28 drew all too soon to a close, the dancing couples began a whirlwind of senior graduation activities never to be forgotten.

Color Day Royalty

The girl chosen to reign as Queen of Color Day represents not only the traditional queenly ideals of beauty, poise and charm, but also the spirit and enthusiasm of her class in the year's activities. Registration and voting, P.T.A. membership and attendance at class council meetings all counted for Color Day points this year. The winning class was kept a carefully guarded secret until after the regal procession of the three class queens into the auditorium and the program of talent in their honor. Then Bob Bishop, Student Body President, crowned the class queen whose class had best supported her —and South—the Queen of this year's Color Day.

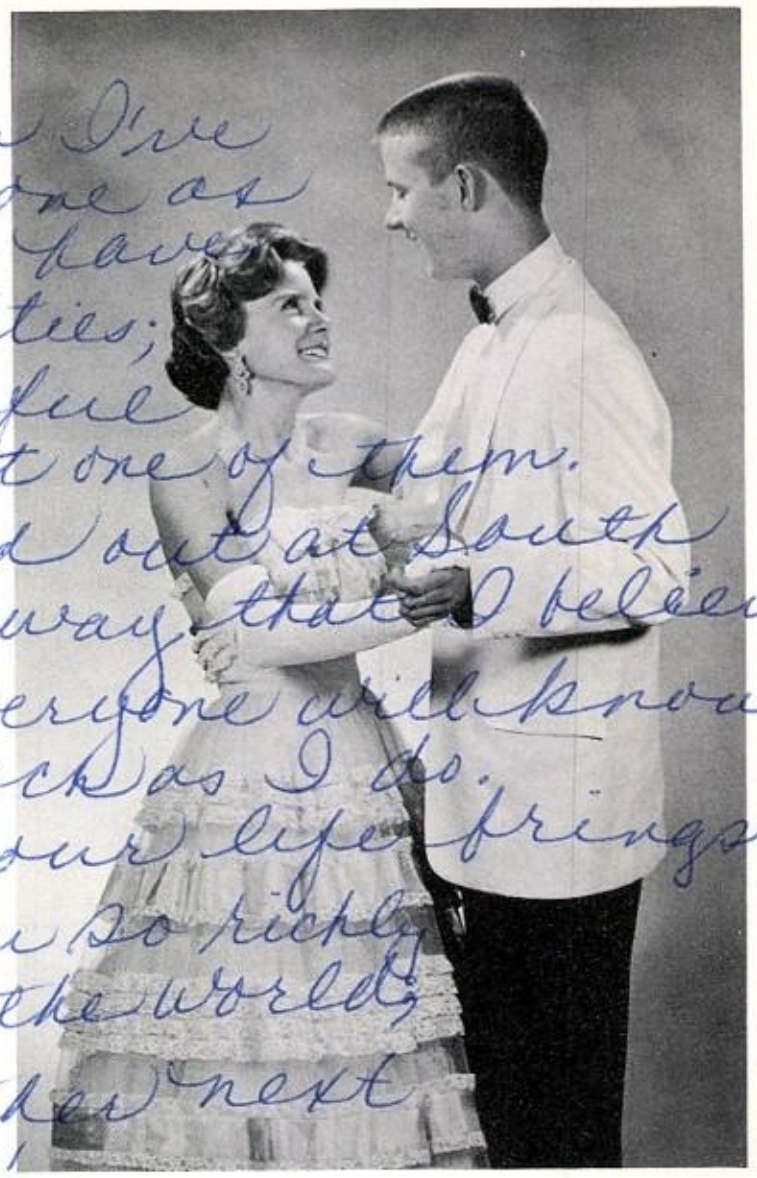
Dave,

I can't remember when I've enjoyed getting know anyone as much as I have you. You have so many talents and abilities; your personality is just wonderful. You have started out at South in such a big way that I believe by your Senior year everyone will know you and like you as much as I do.

Dave, I hope that your life brings you all the happiness you so richly deserve. All the luck in the world, I hope we can see each other next year at dear (?) old South!

Sincerely
Mary Anne



After the coronation and evening Color Day Show in the auditorium, Southern couples strolled around the building to the gyms, where gaiety and romance awaited them in "Depths of Deep Purple." Graduation

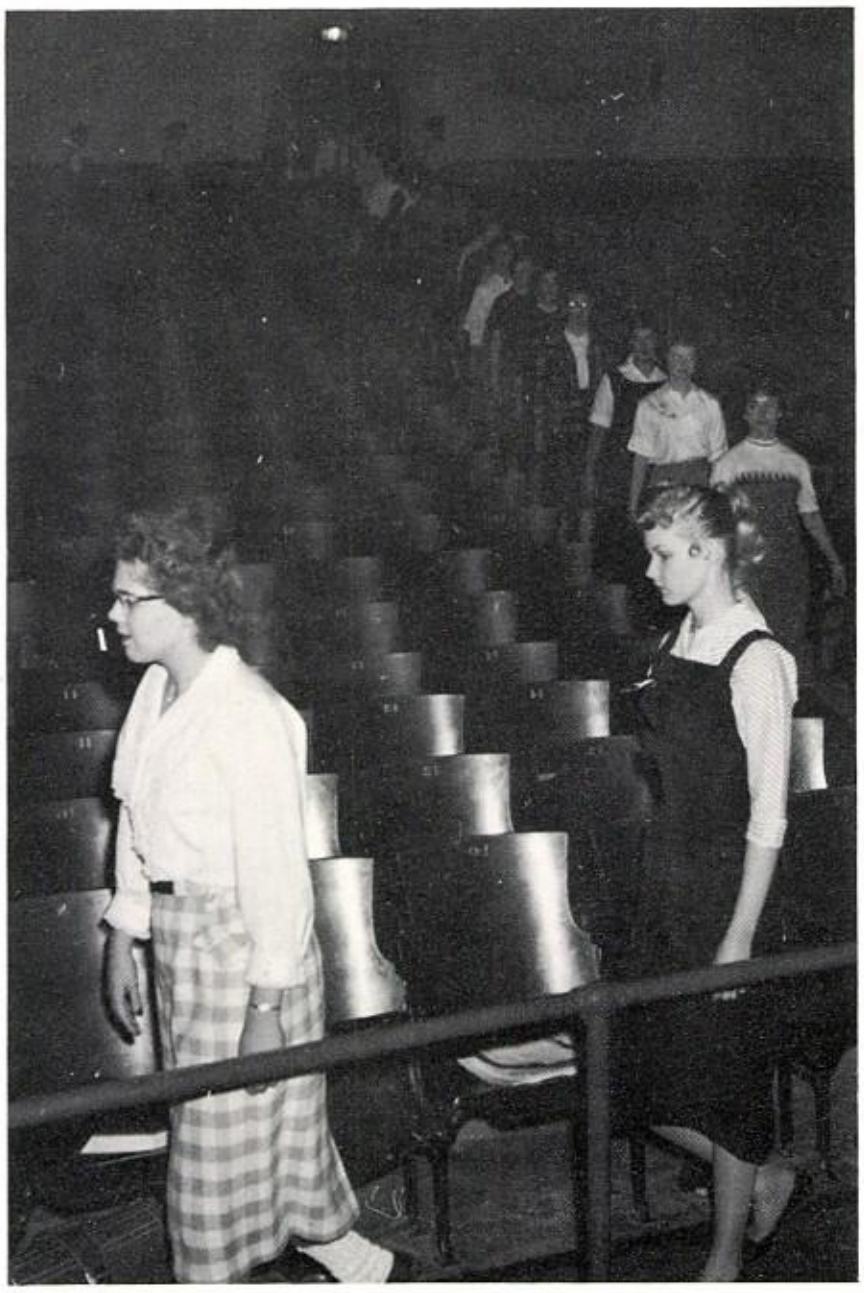
Months before the dream of the Class of 1960's graduation was to become a reality, preparations for the final whirlwind of activities were in progress.

Early in February the Junior Escorts began to practice for that one night in June —graduation. To be chosen, the girls had to have a "B" average and no truancies. The 125 juniors then agreed to buy the gown of lavender chosen by their vote.

Another tradition of graduation week is the Senior Class Play. The eighteen-member cast, under the direction of Mrs. Rebekah Goldberg, began work months ahead for the production of June 3. Set in the 1900's, the play was perfectly staged and costumed, and will always be remembered by the class of 1960.



Monotonous hours of marching and practice do not bother the Junior Escorts as they look forward to escorting the seniors at graduation.

The eighteen-member cast of "Meet Me In St. Louis" interrupts a busy rehearsal to pose for a family portrait.

Gridders Take Second Place

East overpowered South's Rebels as the Angel team swept to the Denver Prep League title. South, losing both games against East, wound up in second place over North, which placed third. West and Manual finished fourth and fifth respectively. Under the coaching of Mr. Diner, the team was led to victory by such outstanding players as Back Ronnie Orrell, the league's leading scorer, Back Neil Hutcheson, Tackle Steve Nellis, and Back Bob Johnston.

East Gridders Dethrone South

An alert East eleven, capitalizing on every Rebel mistake, pasted a 25-0 victory label over Southern hopes in the opening game of the season. In the second game East scored a 27-12 win, tallying two touchdowns in the first half and never losing the lead. Wingback Mickey Marsh romped for twelve Rebel points in the third quarter to make it uncomfortable for the Angels, but East closed out the scoring with two touchdowns and claimed the victory.

The Rebels were led by Tailback Ronnie Orrell, who scored three touchdowns, in wearing down a stubborn Manual eleven to score a 32-6 win in the teams' first meeting of the season. Striking early in the first quarter, South was held at bay for the rest of the period. Later on, however, the Thunderbolts were unable to hold back the strong Rebel team. The second game likewise proved successful for the Southerners, who scored twice in the first quarter and once again in the fourth to short-circuit Thunderbolt hopes 19-0.

The second game was an even greater show of South strength as West failed to get inside the South 40-yard line all afternoon, and the Rebels crushed the Cowboys 33-0.

Ready to meet the challenge of the opposing team, the Rebel line faces the Cowboys with confidence and determination.

Led by Backs Neil Hutcheson and Ronnie Orrell, the Rebs sank North's Vikings in a 25-6 victory. South opened the first quarter with two touchdowns scored by Hutcheson. In the third quarter the Rebel team closed out the scoring with two additional tallies. In the second game the Southerners stopped the Vikings 26-12. By defeating North in this important final game, the Rebels placed second in city-wide competition.

Junior Football

South's junior varsity won the city championship title by tying once with East's junior squad and winning all other games. The team members, although they will be split up next year due to the addition of Denver's new high schools, should provide their individual schools with strong nuclei to start off the new football season.

Sophomore Football

South's sophomore football team wound up in second place among the high schools by winning three games and losing one. Under the instruction of Coaches Dick Yates and Bob Wilson, the team members learned the basic fundamentals of football. Having proved their capability, the players should be a welcome addition to next year's junior and varsity squads.

Cross Country Men Are Runners-Up

When South runners are in the lead, Coach Mielenz is on top of the world.

The Rebel Cross Country team placed second in City this year. Angel distance men racked up the fewest points to take first in city-wide competition, while South swept to the runner-up title. Paced by Dave Reagon, Bob Reginelli, Dave Butz and Frank James, Rebel runners scored a fifth-place standing in State.

Golfers Are Second

Southern golfers, following closely behind East, placed second in City this year. The team, sparked by the experienced Chip Berry, Mike Mielenz, Max Snead and Ronnie Wright, and guided by Coach Frank Mielenz, won twelve out of sixteen matches. They gained valuable knowledge and competitive experience and, though losing five lettermen through graduation, should be strong contenders for next year's city championship and state honors.

Varsity Cagers Take Third

Coached by Mr. Bob Wilson, Southern basketballers placed third in league competition. The Rebels ended the season with a 4-4 record after beating North and West in both games and losing to East and Manual. The determined South team opened the season with a loss to the Angels. In the second game, East again remained on top with a 49-47 win in an exciting and thrill-packed game. Rebel center Ralph Becker romped to the league scoring championship, going away with 141 points for a 17.6 average.

West's Cowboys were twice defeated by the Rebel team with scores of 63-48 and 53-48. In these games and others throughout the entire season, Ralph Becker showed the ability that earned him the league scoring championship. In the second game with West, the Cowboys led at the half. Then the Rebels broke away to rack up the points that enabled them to reach victory.

Twice the Manual Thunderbolts overpowered the Rebels. In both games South played a close and challenging game but could not hold back Manual's scoring attempts. In the first game the Bolts walked away with a 59-54 win. In the return contest Manual again slipped by South.

South Downs Vikings

North's Vikings were unable to hold back a strong South team as the Rebels thumped them with a 60-41 win and a 59-54 victory. Again led by Ralph Becker, the team fought an 8-7 first-quarter score in the second game to come out victorious. By defeating North in the final game the Rebs secured a third place in City.

The tower home of the Student Council is the setting, fifth periods, for the discussion and planning of important school events. This year's twenty-eight elected council members were responsible for the sophomore, all-school, and cheerleader elections and for the inauguration of the new officers in the spring. They also boosted the P.T.A. membership drive and Rebel Roundup, sold pep cards throughout the year, and had charge of the Color Day Dance in May.

Student body officers contemplate a perplexing problem concerning Council-student cooperation.

Emil Sunley plans to wake up council members with a question from the Inter-Club Council.

Inter-Club Council

Representatives from all the recognized clubs at South make up the Inter-Club Council, which met twice a month this year to discuss such matters as the formation of new clubs and the necessary standards for existing ones. I.C.C. also determined where and when clubs should meet to avoid conflicts and conducted the annual sale of Booster Buttons before the basketball season. The funds from this sale were used to help out clubs having financial problems.

Staff

Hidden on the back second-floor hall is the cluttered laboratory where this expensive picture book was assembled. There the Johnny Reb staff spent every sixth hour plotting strategy for photo coupon and annual sales, developing pictures and putting the sections of the book together in the utmost secrecy. Four week-ends during the year were devoted to "deadline," a hideous process of catching up on little details and big discrepancies before pages were mailed to the publisher.

It was a long, hard winter for the annual staff. But when the last horizontal photo had been fitted into the last vertical lay-out and the final shipment sent away, they rejoiced that spring had come and sat back to wait for the delivery of the finished product — THE 1960 JOHNNY REB!

The wonders of Oriental art are revealed to Art Club members on their tour through Denver Art Gallery.

Art Club members spend much of their time designing posters for school activities.

The Christmas bulletin board in main hall, the Christmas showcases on the second floor, and many program covers and posters advertising school events were the work of the Art Club this year. This group, meeting twice every month, also carried on "fun projects" and contests between members, and studied the art of different parts of the world.

In November the club visited the Oriental exhibit of the Denver Art Museum and ate dinner at an Oriental restaurant as part of their study.

Such Western activities as hayrides, barn dances and rodeos are traditional interests of the Caballeros, South's riding club. The group attended the Stock Show and the Arapahoe County Fair this year, held classes in the basic skills of roping and rode regularly on Saturday mornings. Evening meetings, held twice a month at school, consisted of movies and demonstrations to increase members' knowledge of horses and riding. The club's first horse show, held in April, was a great success.

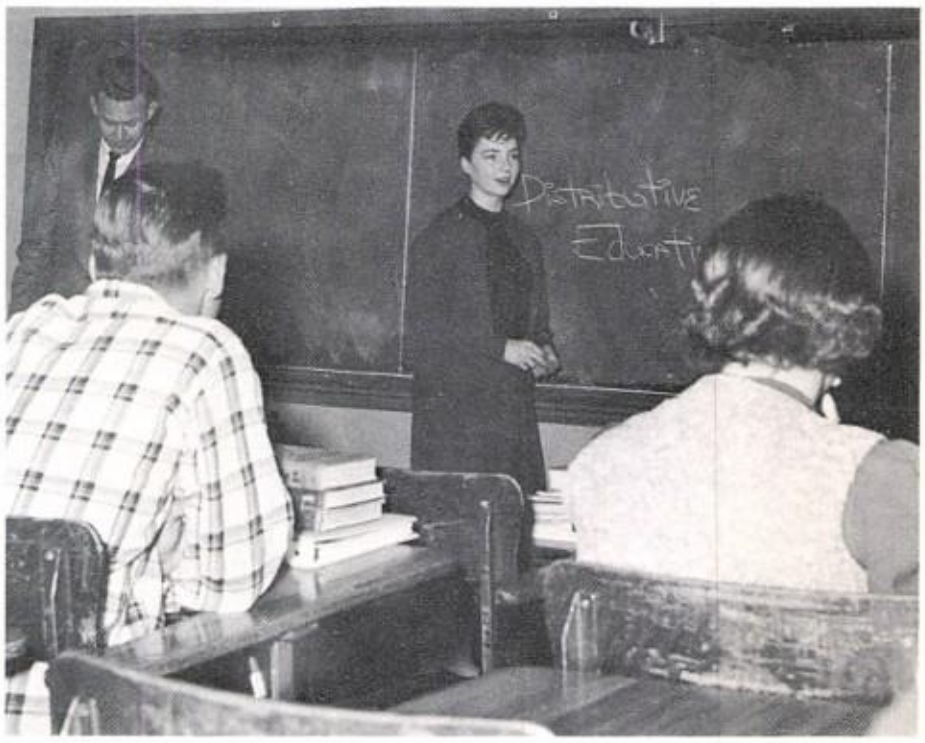
South's chapter of the Distributive Education Club of America was organized this year as a regular class open to seniors only. Members were trained to adapt to different work situations, and then received actual on-the-job experience in meeting and working with the public. Programs and speakers heard by the club emphasized job application, career choice and the development of leadership.

Begun in 1947 with a membership of only eight hundred students, the D.E.C.A. has grown to a nationwide organization with over fifteen thousand members.



Every day students in D.E.C.A. learn about various job situations which they may encounter.

Dave,

It's been real great knowing you this year. You have displayed a great deal of talent

Each year the Debate Club gives interested students the opportunity to develop their speaking effectiveness through practice and study.

This year's forty-two members competed in twenty regional speech meets, debating the assigned state topic of labor-union regulation and perfecting their techniques in discussion, extemporaneous speaking, oratory and oral interpretation. A major aim was to win the Rocky Mountain National Forensic League competition for the third straight year and to gain permanent possession of the cup for the main hall trophy case.

in academics & athletics. Keep up the good work. I want to wish the the best of luck in everything you do & May God bless you.

Sincerely,

Karen McClearey, Judy Williams, Gina Canatsey and Jean Stephenson, staff members on F.T.A.'s "Apple-Polisher," ponder which stories to use for the next issue.

of America

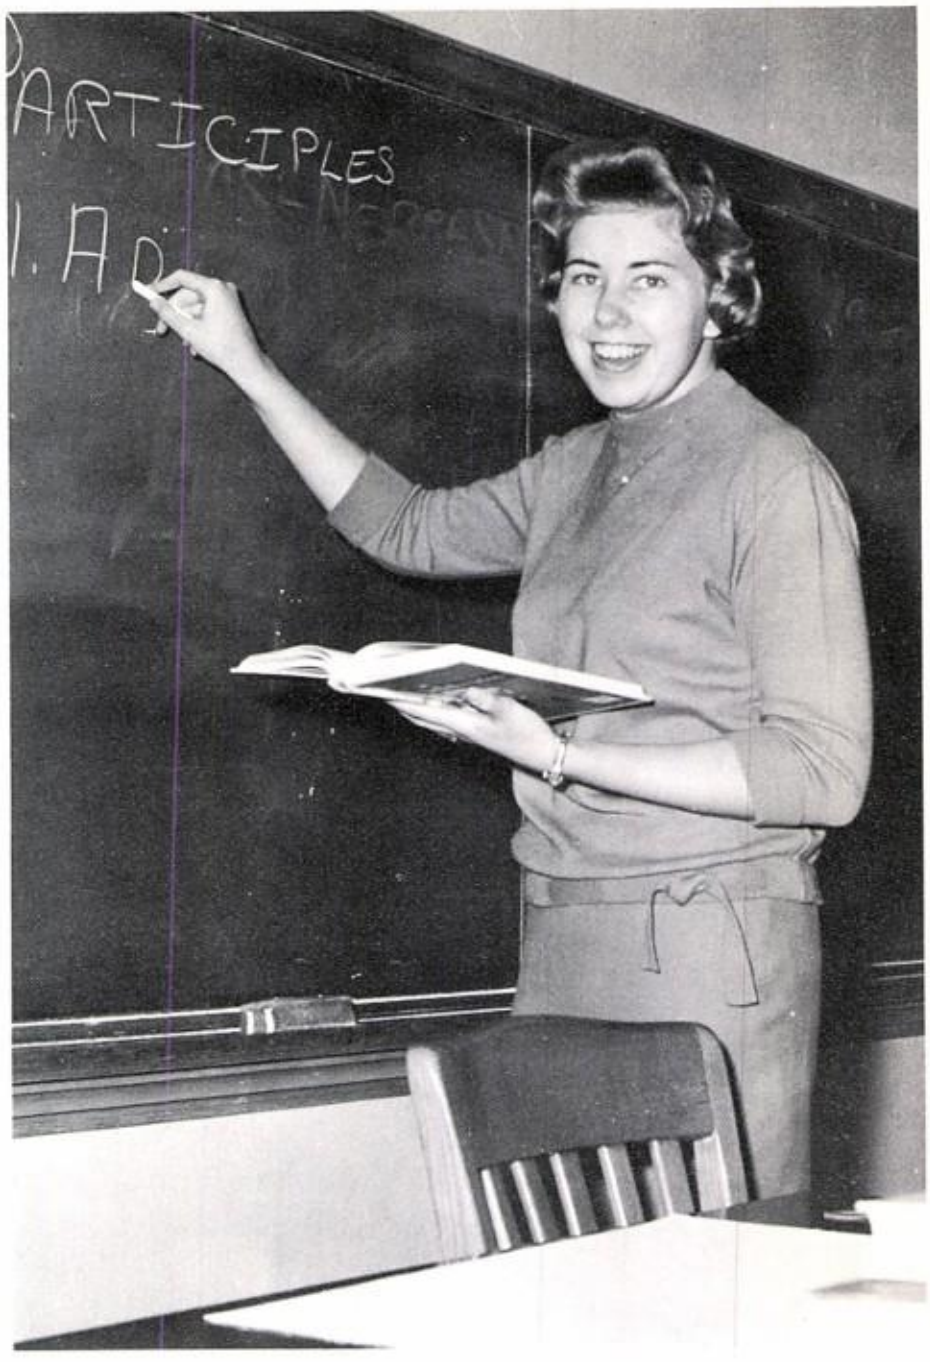
The sale of Homecoming and Color Day corsages to earn money for scholarships was only one of F.T.A.'s many projects this year. Members also attended a state-wide F.T.A. convention at Greeley in March, helped promote interest in the exchange of teachers between countries, put out a club newspaper, "The Apple Polisher," and took part in an extensive tutoring service. They gained actual classroom experience by substituting for regular teachers on a one-period basis.



F.T.A. member Joanne Magnuson receives beneficial experience by actually teaching a class.

Val Watson and Kathy Spangler wonder what lucky girl will wear this mum to the homecoming dance, "Tempos in T Formation."

Slides of Germany keep members of German Club enthralled.

Club

A root-beer fest, patterned after a traditional celebration, and dinner at a German restaurant were two of the ways in which the members of German Club brought the atmosphere of Germany closer to South High this year. Films and slides, discussions of the German people and their customs, and talks by visitors added to the club's understanding of that country. The four members who came to America from Germany made memorable contributions to the year's work.

"Fill that mug!" was the repeated cry at the root-beer fest of the Deutsche Gesellschaft.

German Club's root beer primed the group for many hours of merriment.

Highwaymen

Rebel Road-e-o, in which parents, teachers, and students compete for driving awards, is the annual spring project of the Highwaymen. Members of the club, realizing the importance of safety on streets and highways, work throughout the year to promote driving knowledge and skill in the student body and the community.

This year's activities also included visits to the Colorado Highway Patrol Building and an automotive training center, bicycle skill trials and participation in the program of the state Teenage Safety Association.

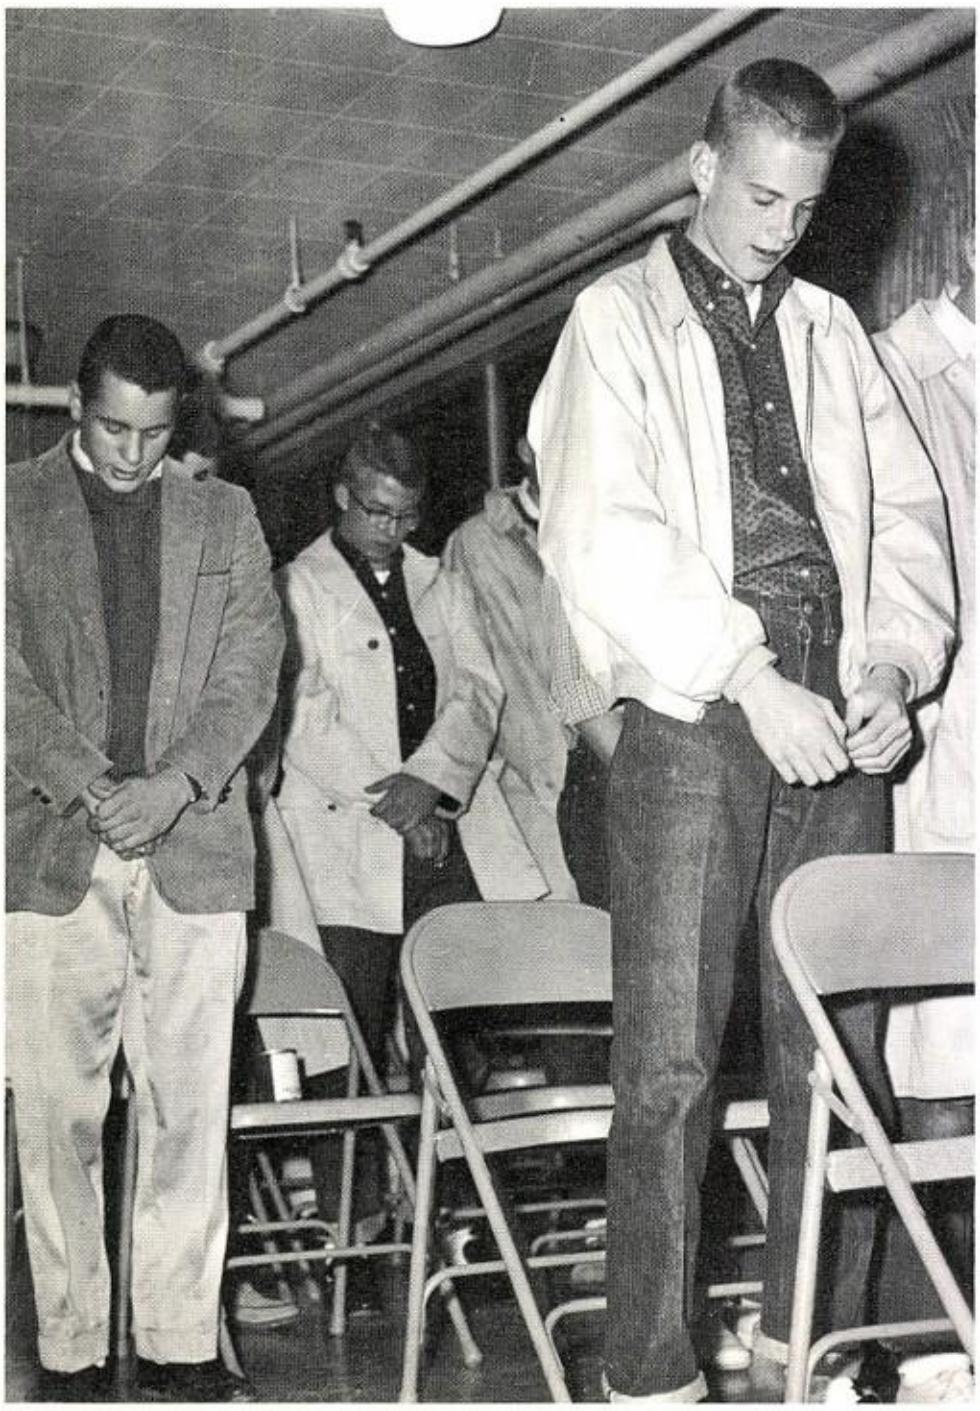
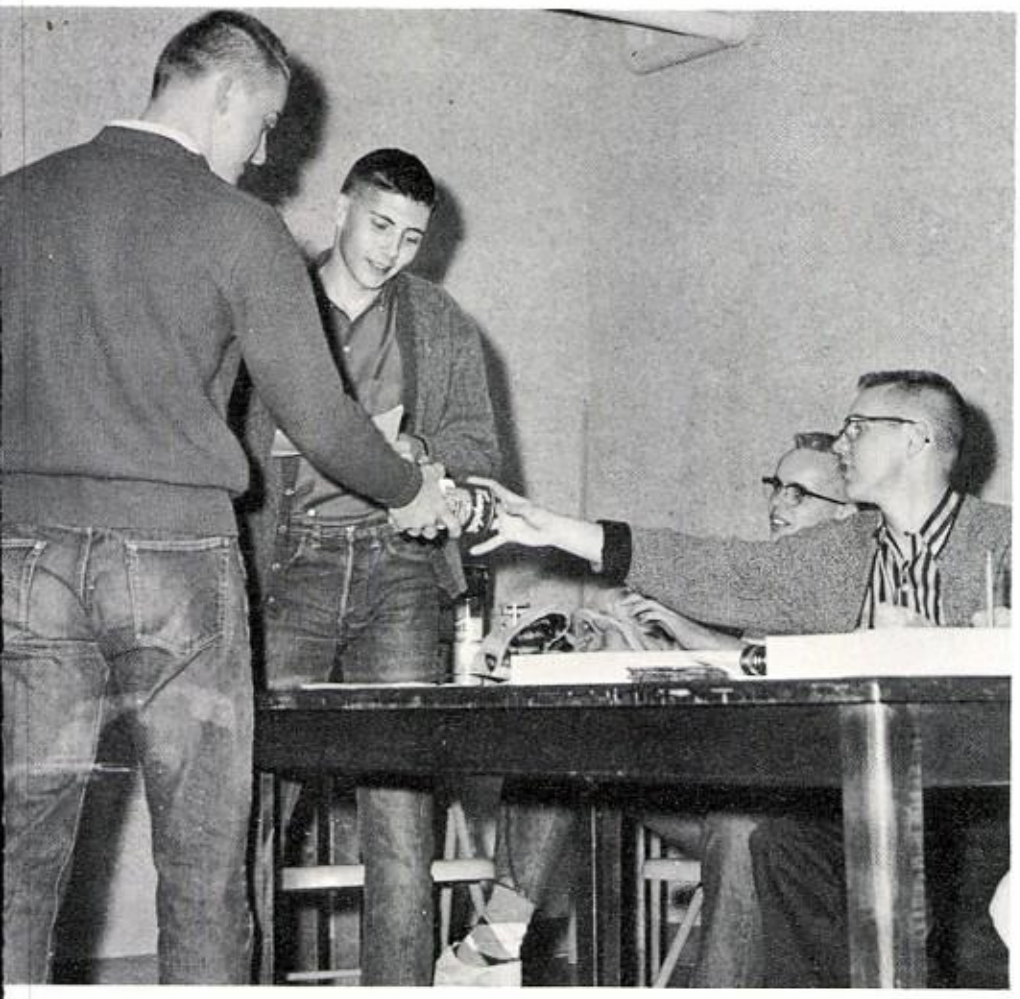
Hi-Y

Collecting food for needy families, helping the Y.M.C.A. men in Christmas tree sales and presenting a religious assembly at Thanksgiving were some of the service projects Hi-Y carried out this year. The club, working to maintain high Christian standards, raised money for worthy charities through such activities as the annual Basket-Brawl with Tri-Hi-Y.

Hi-Y members from all over the state of Colorado participate in a Youth and Government conference every spring. Boys from South have served as governor and lieutenant governor of the model legislatures each of the last four years.



Bowed heads and quiet reverence reflect the Christian faith of the Hi-Y members.



Hi-Y officers accept donations which members willingly contributed to make a plentiful Thanksgiving for needy families.

Working for an understanding of other peoples and nations, South's International Relations Club this year sent delegates to a state conference on the problems of Southeast Asia and to a model United Nations assembly. Programs at regular club meetings included preparation for these conferences, talks by exchange students and travelers, debates and panel discussions of current world affairs.

I.R.C. also presented the United Nations Assembly in October and worked with the Junior Red Cross on the International Assistance Drive.

Les Patineurs

The flashing blades of several champion hockey and figure skaters led Les Patineurs this year in competition with other high schools and in examples of individual technique. Among other honors a team from the club has gained permanent possession of the City Relays trophy, an award which is retired if won for three years in a row.

Occasional outdoor mountain skating fun at Homewood and Evergreen provided a chilly contrast to the Wednesday night sessions on the indoor rink at Denver University.

Wednesday night skaters buy admission tickets, anxiously awaiting a night of fun.

Members were encouraged to enter this contest in March and to construct mathematical projects for the Science Fair.

The organ music before and after assembly programs and P.T.A. meetings this year was furnished by the Organ Guild. Members, admitted after competitive try-outs in the fall, gathered once a month to see musical demonstrations, hear guest speakers, and attend piano and organ recitals. At Christmas time the Guild broadcast music from the tower and sent organists to play carols at the railroad station. In January they presented a joint recital.

Organ Guild members gather for relaxation after providing music for one of the year's numerous assemblies.

Perfecting their individual techniques and competing in races with West and North, the Rebel Rollers enjoyed weekly skating sessions throughout the year. The club, open to all interested roller skaters, met every Wednesday night at a nearby rink; their membership cards were good for discounts on the usual rates. Trophies and awards for individual and team achievements were presented at the end of the year. A series of inter-school roller dance competitions has been proposed for next year.

These members of Rebel Rollers make skating appear an easy skill because of the grace and form they so effortlessly display.

No longer strictly a sophomore group, the Southern Gutter Putters this year consisted of girls of all grade levels and all degrees of skill. They bowled every Monday morning from eight o'clock until ten, enjoying the informal competition, uncrowded lanes and convenient meeting time of their own league. Divided into teams of three, the S.G.P.'s worked to improve their scores both for league and tournament honors. Awards for the year's accomplishments were presented at a banquet held in the spring.

Southern Masqueraders

Production of "Androcles and the Lion" and the presentation of "Years Ago" were the Southern Masqueraders' most ambitious projects this year. Members spent hours in preparation for these plays, rehearsing, getting props and costumes, arranging for publicity and doing other necessary tasks.

After competitive try-outs in the fall, regular meetings of the club consisted of skits by members, attendance at professional productions and a study of effective dramatic methods.

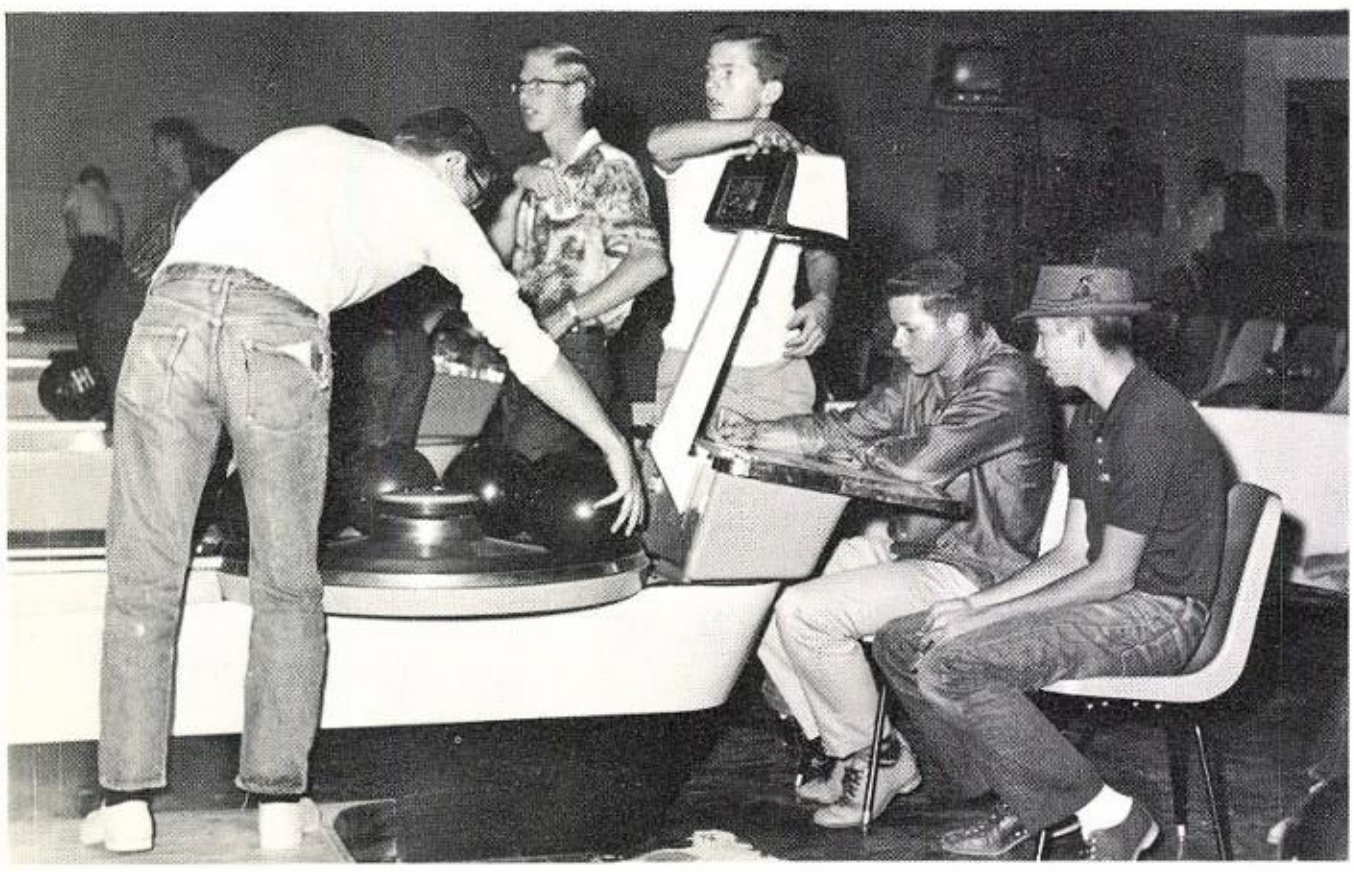
Tournaments held during Christmas and spring vacations this year gave members of the Southern Pinheads an opportunity to compete for state and national honors. The boys, who won the Colorado State Bowling Championship two years ago and were anxious to repeat that performance, met for practice and inter-team contests every Monday afternoon. Awards for the highest teams and individuals in both regular league and tournament competition were presented at the end of the year.



Teammates keep tabs on each others' scores and critically eye form for tips they may use to further their own skill.

Spanish Clubs

"Buenas dias. Yo hablo espanol."

This year Spanish Club members became better acquainted with the language and customs of Spanish-speaking peoples through enjoyable and worthwhile South-of-the-border activities. The clubs spoke Spanish for a part of each meeting, broke piñatas at Christmastime, ate dinner at Latin-American restaurants and listened to Spanish music. Elections of officers and regular meetings of the clubs were held during advanced Spanish classes.

Because of an increasing interest in Spanish and the greater number of advanced students, there were five Spanish Clubs this year.

Membership in the state and national Junior Classical Leagues and attendance at their conventions are two traditions of the Senatus Populusque Romanus. The club, better known as the S.P.Q.R., is dedicated to increasing the knowledge and appreciation of the Latin language and Roman civilization; meetings are held once a month during the advanced Latin classes. Members this year participated in Latin Week projects designed to promote student interest in the language, and studied the major works of Cicero.

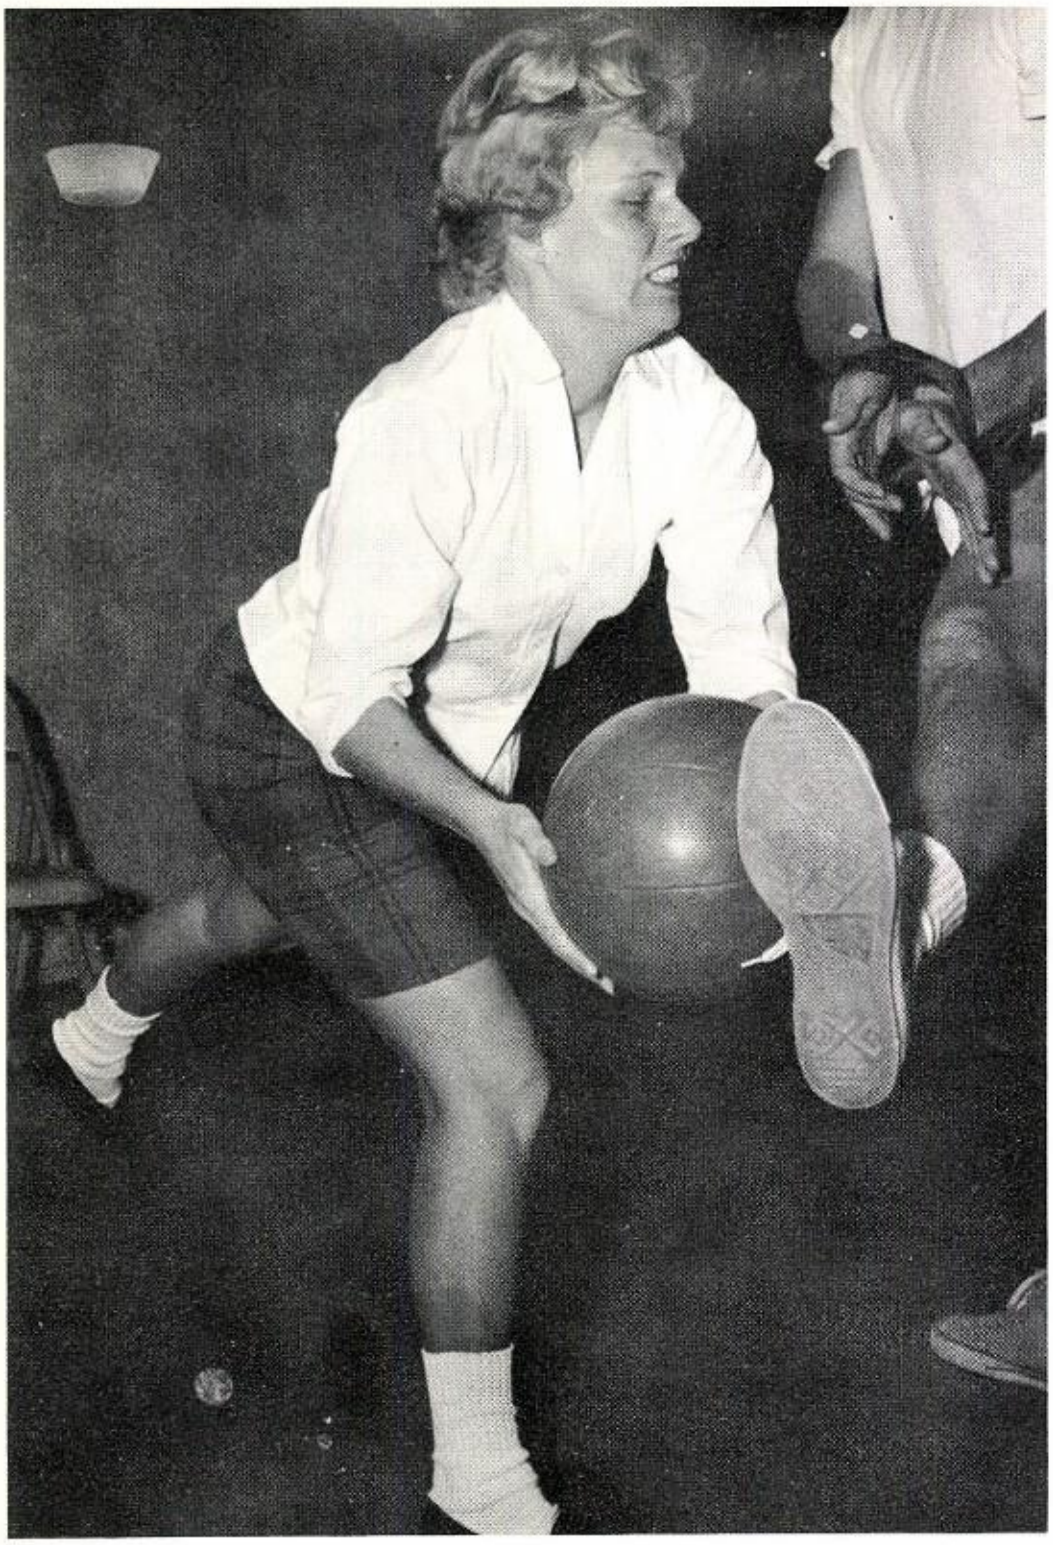
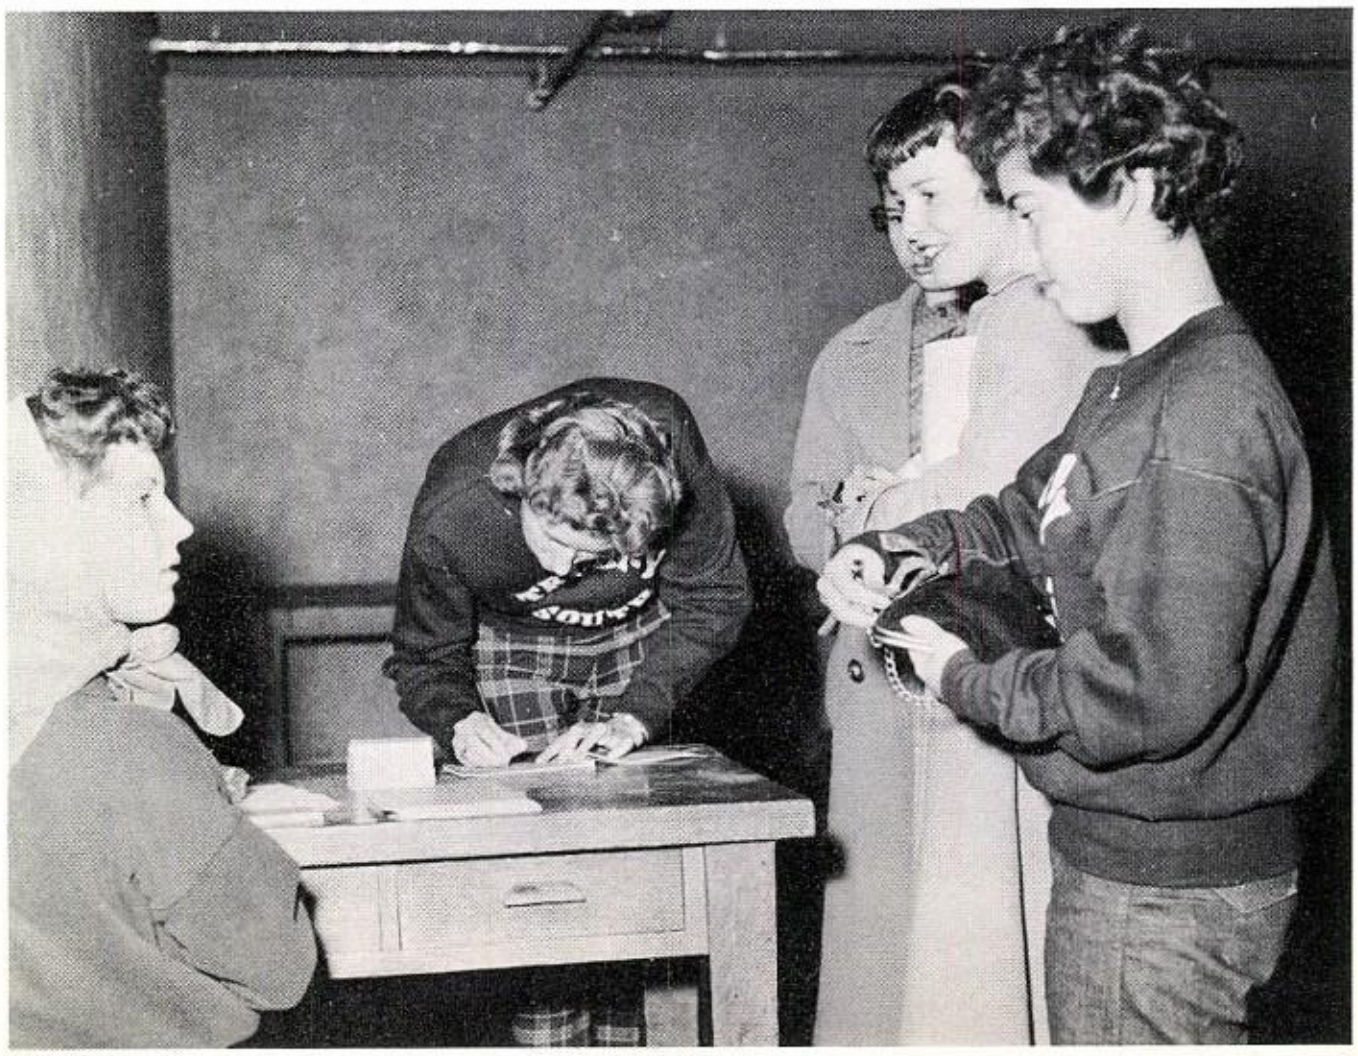
The first open meeting of Tri-Hi-Y had one of the biggest turnouts of any South club this year.



"Why didn't we tie their feet?" Karen Kafoed wonders as she is deftly blocked by a Hi-Y guard.

Fun and service sparked Tri-Hi-Y's activities this year as the girls played Basket-Brawl with Hi-Y for a world service project, planned the Easter Assembly and sold Christmas trees for the Y.M.C.A. Members also participated in Youth and Government, a model legislature held at the capitol in the spring.

Because of its large membership, the club was split this year into two sections, which held separate meetings and elected different officers, but joined for a formal initiation and an annual-signing party, and worked together throughout the year.



Tri-Hi-Y members turn in the money from their shampoo sales, one of many projects which helped send their delegates to Youth and Government.

Triple S

The recognition and promotion of scholastic achievement are the purposes of Triple S. To become a member, a student must earn at least five A's and no C's in academic subjects over a period of two semesters.

The club's monthly meetings in the auditorium this year were highlighted by a survey of American culture. Visiting artists, scientists and teachers spoke on the contribution of their fields to our civilization.

In Senior Hall, Triple S maintained a bulletin board which announced current college and scholarship opportunities.

Young Democrats

Such speakers as the county Democratic Party Chairman, state and national congressmen, and a Colorado University professor of political science contributed to the Young Democrats' understanding of partisan politics and government this year. South's Young Democrat organization, the first high school club to become a member of the state Young Democrats, participated in several conferences sponsored by the Rocky Mountain Citizenship Clearing House, and worked for the Democratic Party offices.

Young Republicans

Assistance to the local Republican Party, a meeting with the mayor of Denver, and attendance at the national party convention held in Denver last summer were activities of the Young Republicans during their first year at South. The club, encouraged by the Rocky Mountain Citizenship Clearing House, was organized in April of 1959 to increase student interest and participation in government. Members learned about current issues and governmental problems through visits to the state legislature and speeches by local and state politicians.

During the year members of Beginning Choir contributed their fine music to school, civic and church groups throughout the city. Activities of the choir at South included performances during Christmas and Music Week assemblies. They presented a varied repertoire to service organizations, church-sponsored functions and charity institutions. Perhaps the most significant achievement of the choir this year was their display of religious choral literature in the Easter Sunrise Service at Cheesman Park.

The traditional aim of South's Concert Choir is perfection. This year's choir, directed by Mr. Wells, rehearsed daily throughout the year to achieve this quality of performance.

The choir was heard by the student body in holiday assemblies, graduation and the Color Day Show; they sang also for church services and various organizations in Denver.

Picnics, a Christmas reunion with past choirs and sales of their own long-playing record added to the spirit of the choir.

The Reserve Officers Training Corps is dedicated to the physical and mental development of young men. Instruction in military leadership, first aid, map reading, weapons and marksmanship, physical fitness, command and drill help in attaining this goal. This year the South R.O.T.C. made practical use of their knowledge, ranking among the leaders in Regimental Review, Federal Inspection, rifle matches and drill competition. The cadets also presented their annual dinner dance on March 12. The courtesy and discipline gained through R.O.T.C. benefits the cadets during their years at South and provides a foundation for future careers.

Assistant Principals and Deans

Though personal counseling and disciplinary problems occupy much of their time, South's assistant principals and deans handle a large part of school administration. It is their job to screen candidates for school offices, to set up supervisory schedules, and to help select delegates for several conferences each year. The assistant principals also determine each semester's program of classes and the procedure for air-raid and fire drills; one of them must belong to the athletic control board which provides funds, officials and rules for all inter-school athletic contests. The deans help to plan and organize P.T.A. and Student Council activities.

South's administrative department provides services to teachers, students and parents. The office staffs handle such matters as student achievement and attendance records, the weekly bulletin, telephone messages and the lost-and-found. Health records of all students are kept by the nurse, who is also in charge of the shots and physical examinations given at school. The library is always open during the day for study, and students working on term papers can go to the librarians for assistance. The treasurers sell fee cards, athletic and dance tickets, and senior announcements, and work with club and class treasurers.

Counseling

Every sophomore at South is assigned a counseling teacher who will work with him during his next three years, guiding his choice of high school subjects and advising him concerning colleges and occupations. The student may receive additional help from the staff of counselors in room 104.

Comprehensive college and vocational counseling are provided by this staff. A student receives assistance in choosing the right college and also in applying for admission and financial aid. He is tested to determine his fields of vocational interest and then may be placed in a part-time job in that field. Other counselors check each student's graduation requirements and notify him if they have not been met, arrange for summer-school courses and make-up for incompletes, and take care of program requests and changes.

The coordinators direct the counseling and guidance program at South and work with the other school administrators to keep the school running smoothly.

Creativity and originality are encouraged in South's art classes. Advanced art students may select work in such media as textiles, mosaics and sculpture as well as paints and pencils. In the recently established interior design course pupils may build scale models of rooms and choose appropriate colors and furnishings for them.

A proposed course in art backgrounds, which will be taught as soon as enough students request it, will emphasize the history and appreciation of art and explain its effects on civilization.

Training urses are offered so that beginning musicians ay develop their skill and eventually be adtted to one of the top performing groups. The ncert Choir, Beginning Choir, and Girls' Enmble are in demand for church and commun- performances throughout the year; and the ncert Band and Orchestra present programs many school events.

Classes in the theory and history of music aw both serious musicians and appreciative teners to the music rooms.

The South High School Band, led by Mr. Goff, arouses Rebel spirit at league football games.

Business Education

To teach fundamental business principles and to encourage the use of efficient, up-to-date methods are the aims of business education. Through courses in business arithmetic, English and law, office practice, stenography, transcription and bookkeeping, students at South are able to determine their aptitudes and interests in the business field. The recent addition of the more advanced Bookkeeping 3 and 4 classes has further enriched the vocational program by preparing young men and women to enter the field of business management.

Through industrial arts courses a student may develop both manual skills and an understanding of industrial techniques. In the metal and wood shops he becomes familiar with tools, experiments with design and with different materials, and completes projects that are both decorative and useful. Particularly if he intends to become an engineer, he is urged to take the mechanical drawing classes, recently strengthened and revised to meet the needs of college engineering students. More work is now offered in such areas as sketching, lettering and inking.

English

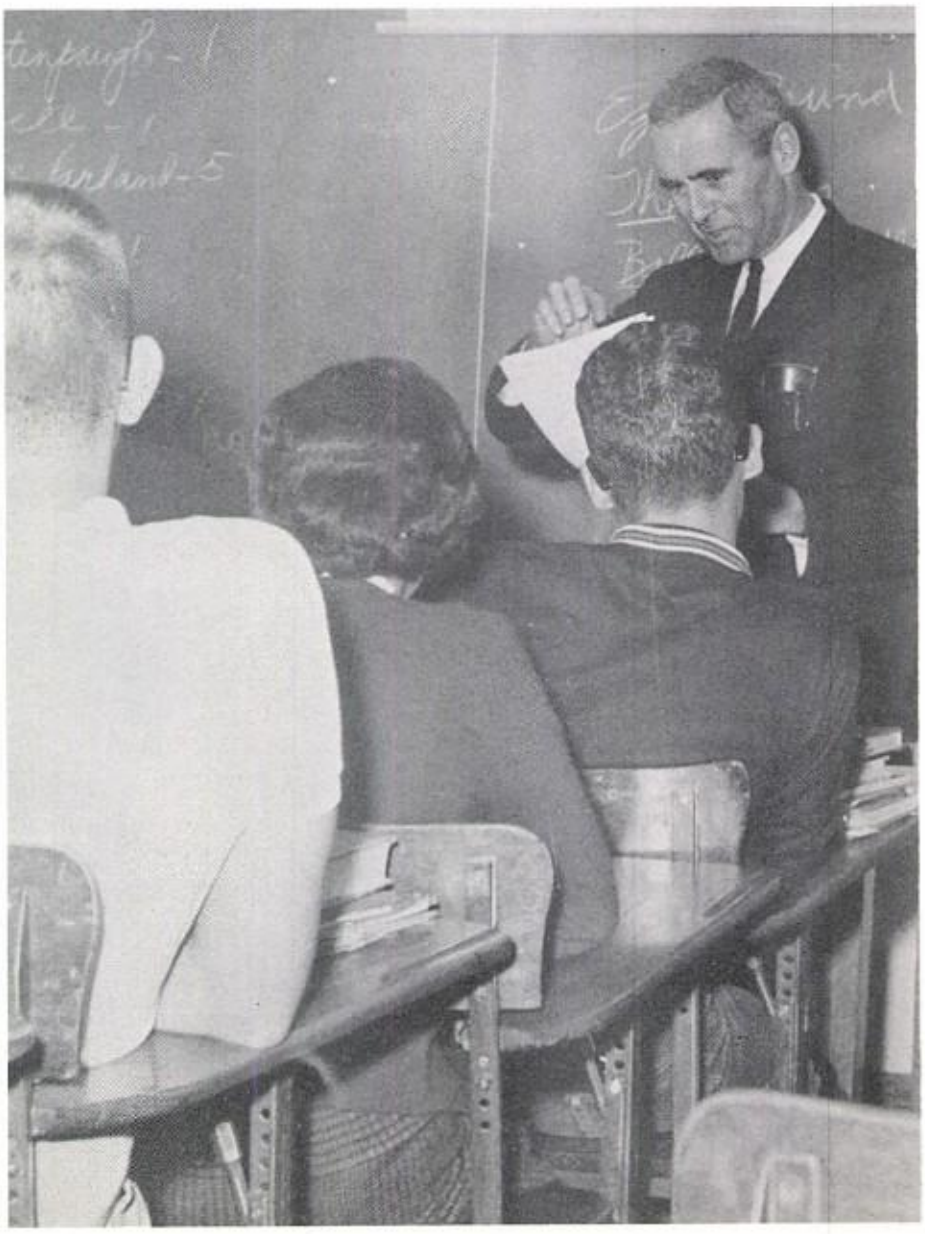
Growth in those skills which lead to effective communications is the primary aim of South's English department. Courses in English usage, creative and analytical composition, and speech help the student to achieve a better understanding of our language as a whole.

Since 1958 accelerated courses have enabled interested and capable students to achieve a faster and more thorough preparation in English; advanced students may now receive credit for college freshman English taken in the senior year of high school.



Mr. Page looks well pleased with the results of a recent Advanced Placement English assignment.

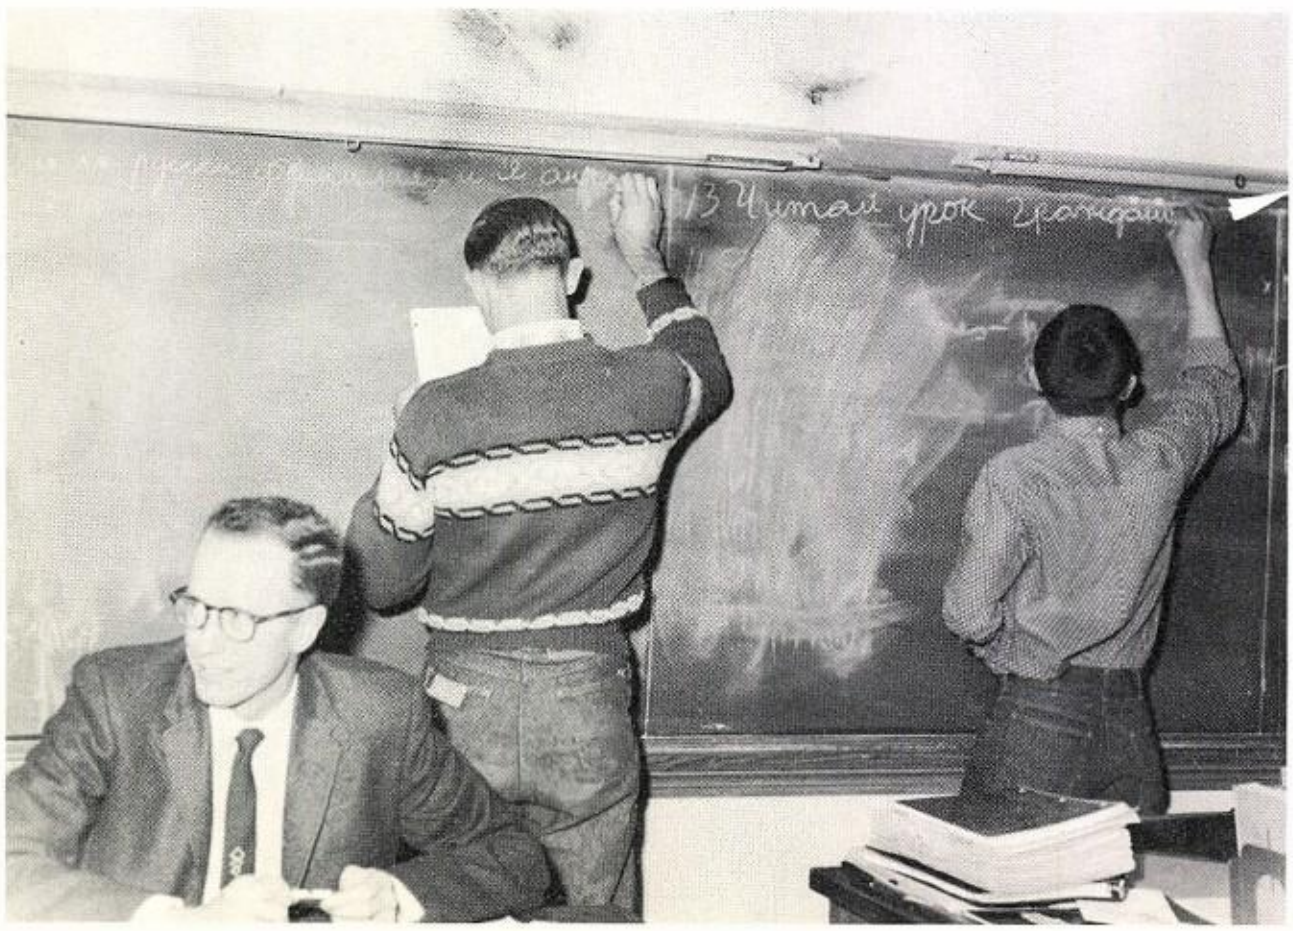
Language

A primary aim of South's language department is to promote a deeper understanding of other peoples and cultures through a study of their language. Courses are carefully planned to provide instruction in both modern and historical aspects of language, and to increase awareness of the significant role language plays in today's foreign relations. This year a Russian class was added to the traditional curriculum of French, German, Latin and Spanish, and more students were enrolled in both beginning and advanced language courses.



Mr. Taylor's Russian students work to master a new alphabet and system of grammar.

Mathematics

The mathematics department provides courses for students with all degrees of ability and interest in math. The basic math series teaches the fundamentals of arithmetic, general math courses stress practical, everyday uses of mathematics, and the algebra-geometry sequence provides background for college courses and technical careers.

The new accelerated mathematics program makes it possible for particularly able students to take advanced algebra, geometry and trigonometry during their sophomore and junior years and to study college freshman mathematics as seniors.

Energetic games of volleyball are among the most popular activities of the girls' gym classes.

And R.O.T.C.

South's physical education department encourages students to develop their enjoyment and skill in individual and team sports, stunts and exercises. Physical fitness tests are given throughout the city so that students may measure their own coordination and endurance.

A year of gym and a semester of health are requirements for graduation, though boys may substitute two years of R.O.T.C. training. Students who wish to continue in physical education may request more advanced gym courses, including modern dance for girls, and a boys' course, new this year, in apparatus gym.

Science

The comprehensive curriculum of South's science department is designed to meet the needs and interests of all students. Those with special ability in chemistry are challenged by the advanced placement class, and others may choose between the two types of regular courses. The physics program, revised last year, emphasizes learning from actual observation and experimentation rather than from a textbook. Pupils interested in the biological sciences may select botany, biology, zoology or physiology; and future astronomers, geologists and photographers are encouraged to build a foundation in these fields.

Social Science

An important purpose of social science education is to make each individual more aware of his society and his own function in it. A student at South may learn to understand himself and the people directly around him through a psychology class. Courses in American history and government provide him with a knowledge of his cultural heritage and impress upon him his responsibilities as a citizen. International relations, European history and economics classes emphasize the political, economic and cultural interdependence of nations and teach him to live in the world of today.

Home Economics

Home economics courses provide girls with practical training in cooking, sewing and home management. Foods classes plan, prepare and serve well-balanced and attractive meals, giving special attention to economy and individual dietary needs. Clothing students learn basic sewing skills and then advance to more complicated projects, often designing their own patterns.

One of the most popular courses is home and family living, taught by both boys and girls. Family situations and realistic problems are stressed through such activities as visits to area pre-schools to work with small children.

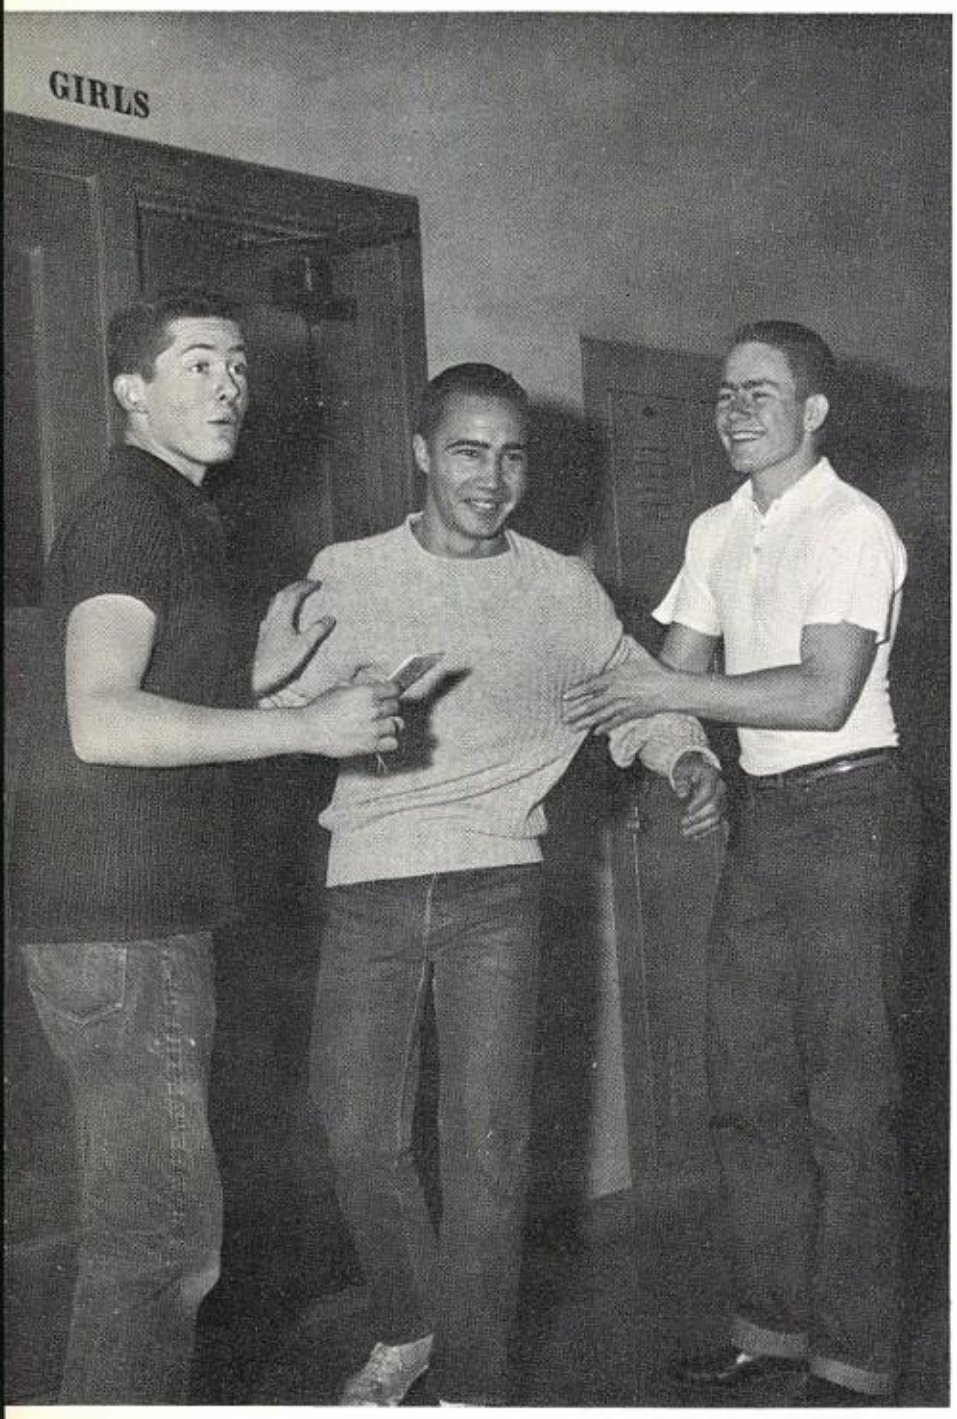
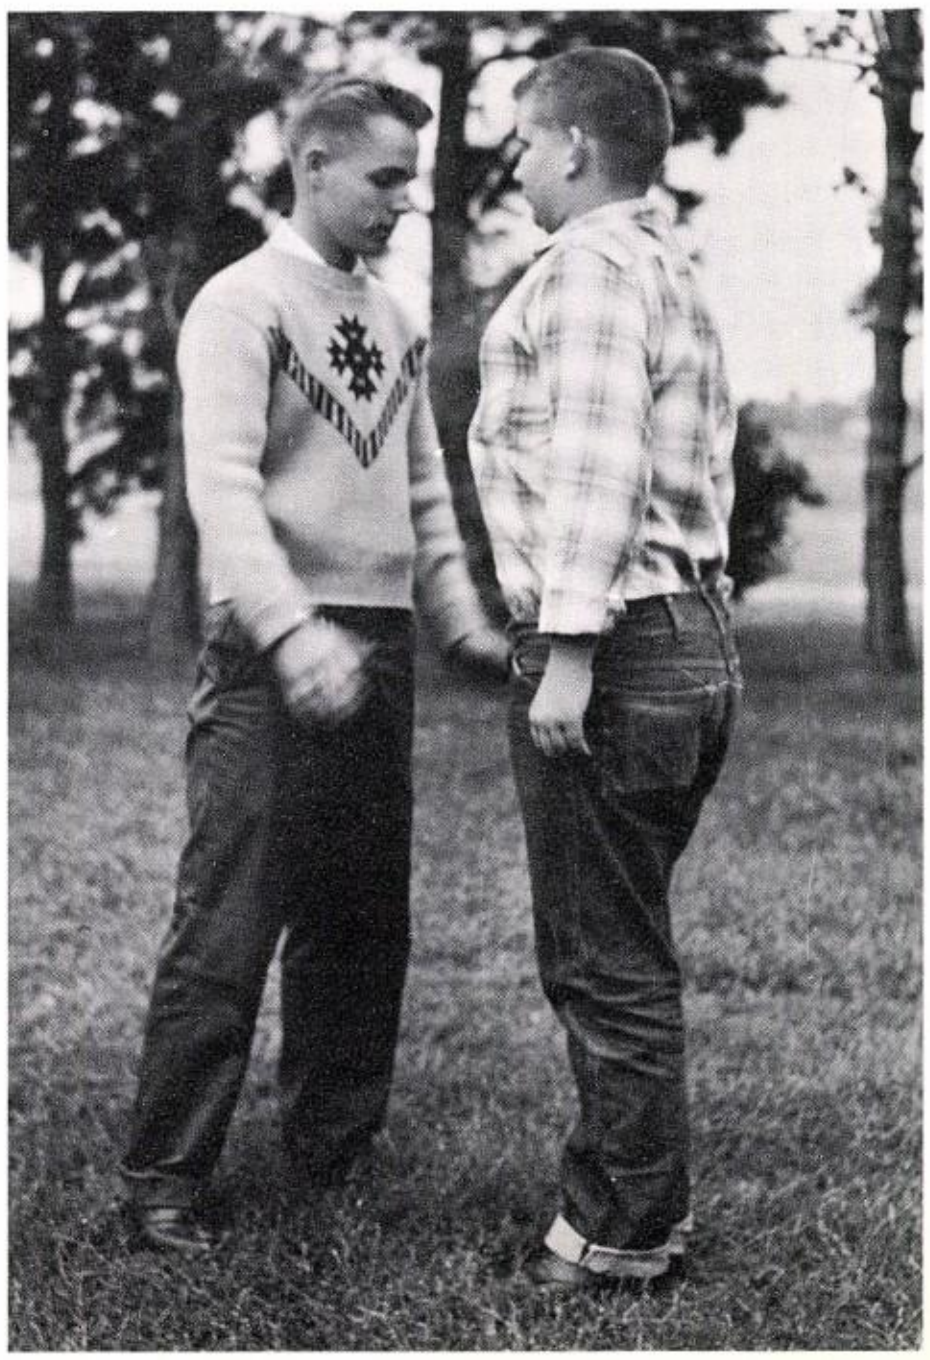
Class of '62 in Action



"We were just curious!"



"That's my stomach."

The pause that refreshes.

"If we threw out the spaghetti and put the peanut butter in the cookie box, maybe we'd find room for these."

"First he tells me he loves me, then he breaks my chain."

"Come on, you guys! I saw it first!"

Juniors

Gaiety . . .

Laughter
disturbing the brisk air of a fall day mingled with sunlight on the grass bright, carefree
Unguarded
Unrecorded
except by that instant
of contagious happiness.

Animation
caught in the gentle swish of taffeta
a swirl of emerald hue
Brass blare
and drummer's beat softened with occasional touches over an ivory key
A first prom
blending subtle color into rhythmic sound.

Gaiety
full of joy only to be alive.

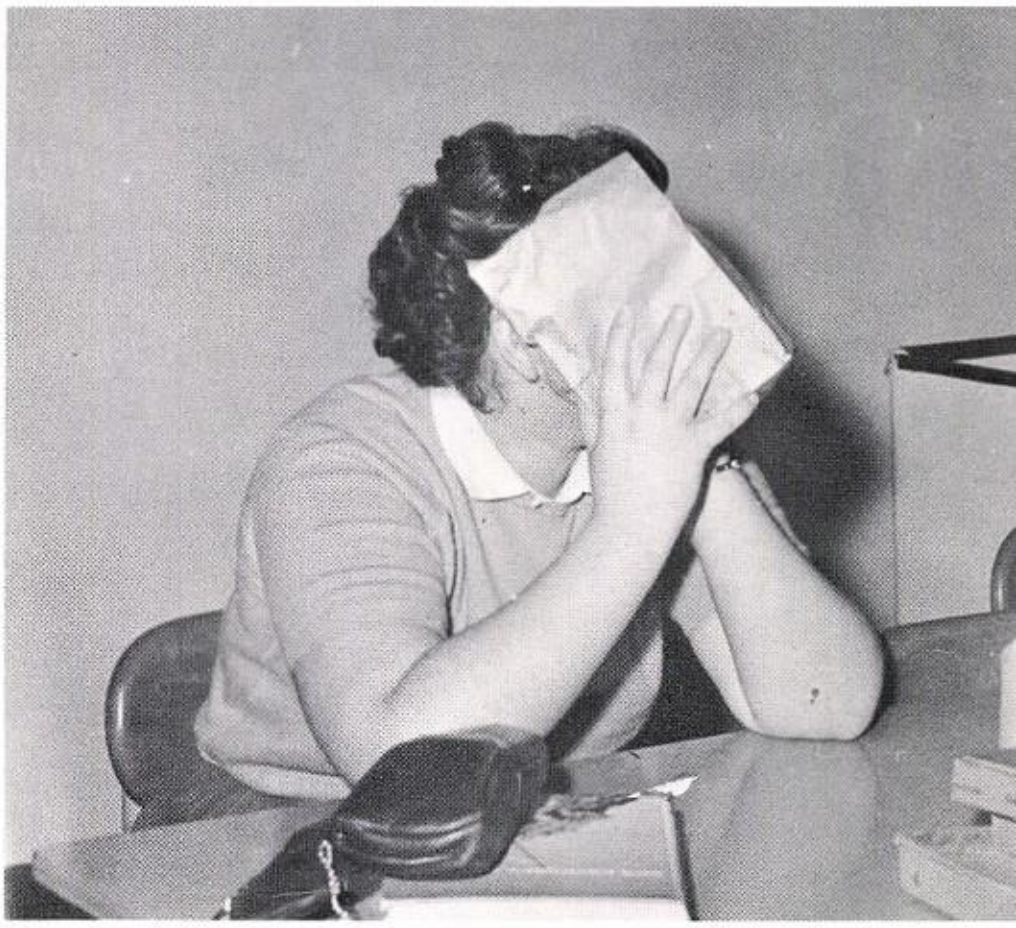
"Come out and fight like a man!"

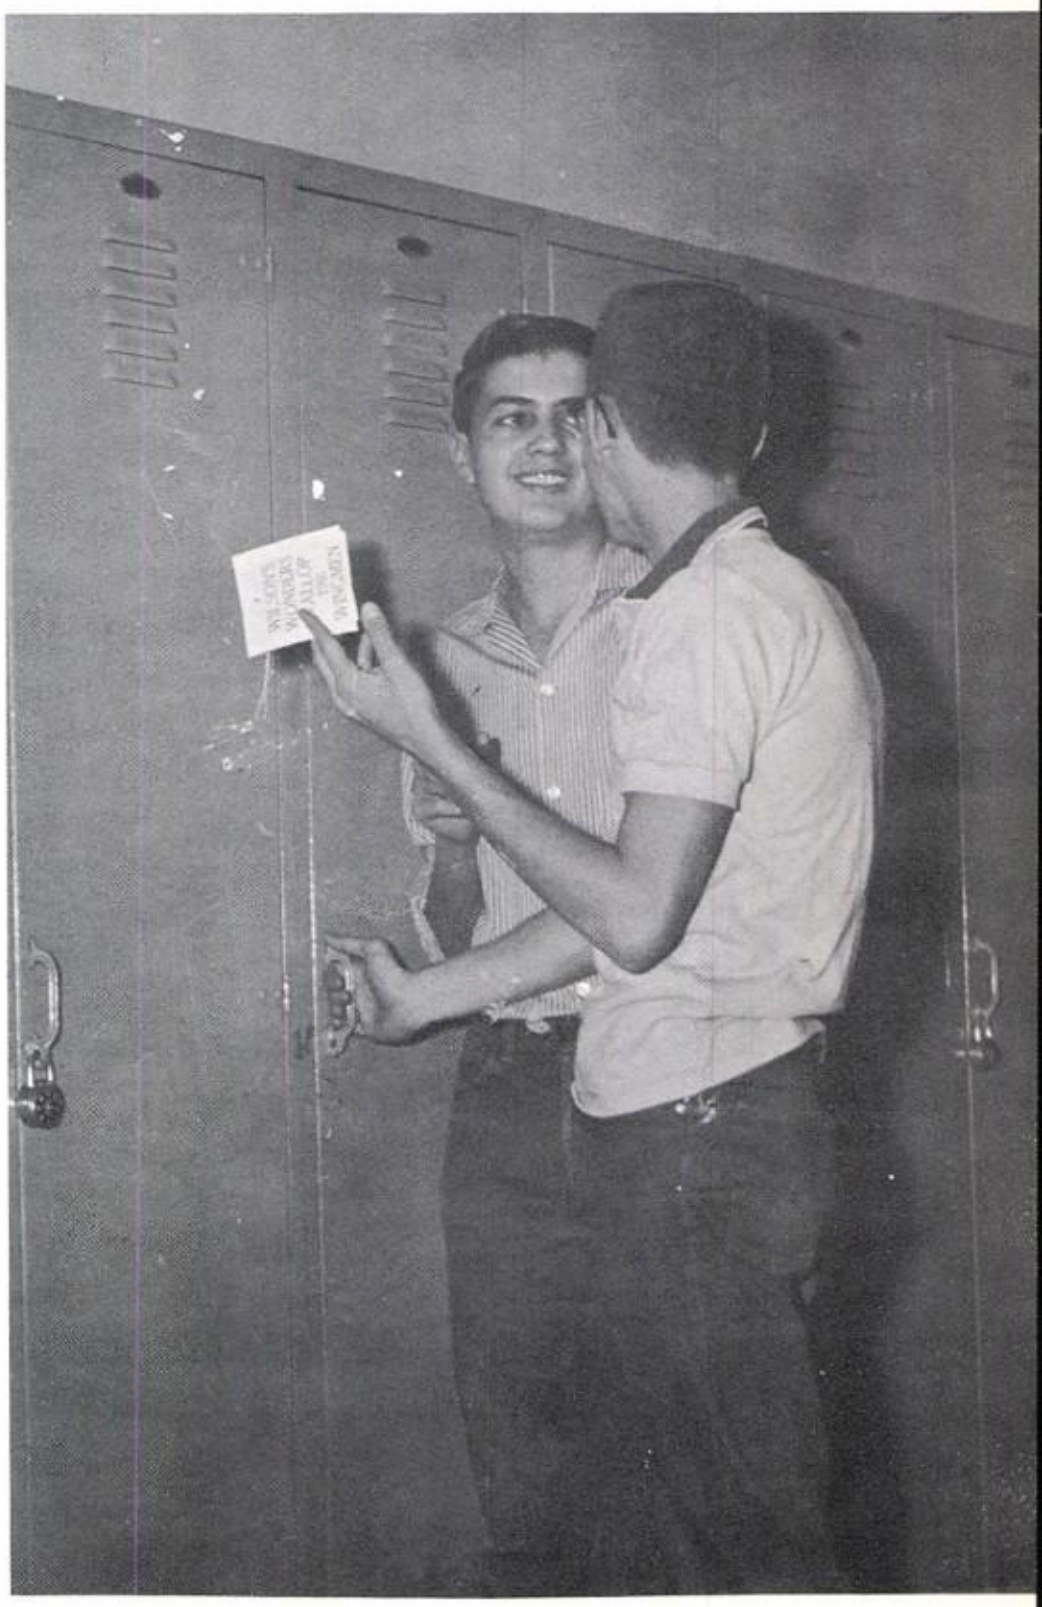


"Do you think it's too obvious that I'm avoiding him?"

"Did he really say that about ME?"

Class of '61 At Random

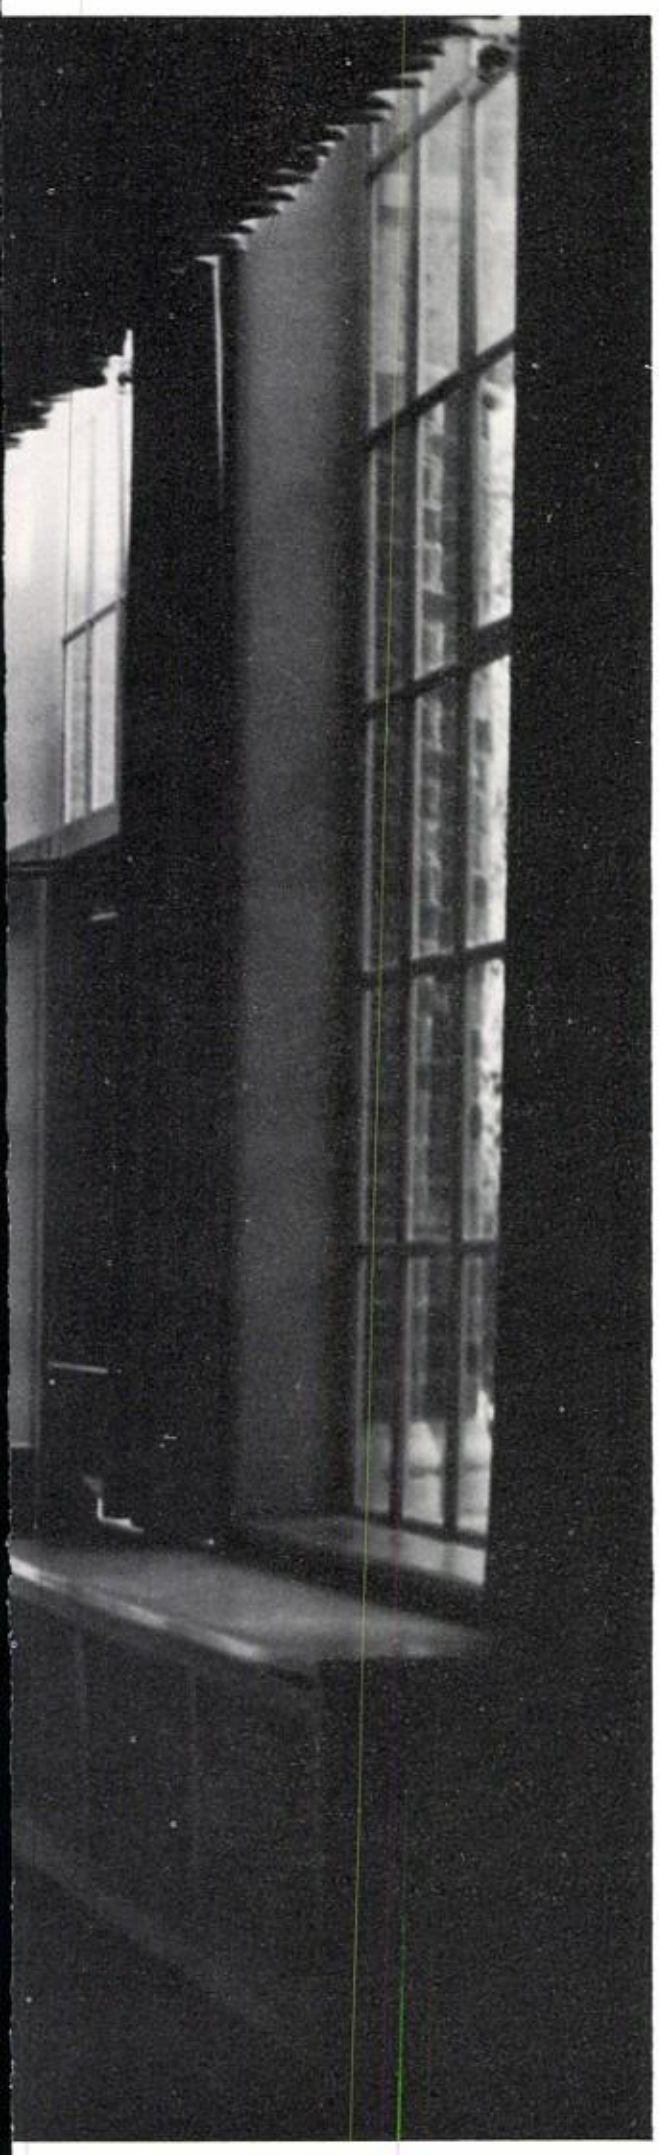
"Wait'll I see him!"



"Of course I can't afford these, but you should see the doll that's selling them."

"I hope John gets this message!"

Seniors



Hope . . .

Sun-lapped squares of stone
sun-warmed benches
Footsteps
sharp taps, hurried
quiet voices murmuring
A book, open
black print blurring on whiteness Dreams.

Purple robes
in lines, unbroken
wide, near, and narrowing
in pattern
with a blur of solemn faces
A choir singing
joy in their music
and longing
. . . how soon the end
A square cap, tasseled, and a scroll
A young voice, clear in the stillness
"Onward."

Hope

an ending . . . and a beginning.

Kiwanis Award

Jack Leingang

Excellence in athletics and academics was displayed by versatile Jack Leingang. More important, Jack possessed the humble character and dynamic personality which distinguishes the outstanding senior boy from his classmates. On the football field, Jack guarded a position on South's varsity to be chosen a member of the All-City second team. The baseball diamond also was a familiar ground for him as he played on varsity teams. Scholastically, Jack maintained a 3.98 average to be awarded a Boettcher Scholarship. Because of his fine leadership and personality, Jack, chosen by fellow Key Clubbers as their president, also was an active addition to "S" Club, Triple S and I.C.C., and was designated by Tau Sigma Religious Fraternity to receive the Warren Pickford Award. Jack was chosen from five finalists—Dave Leonard, Mike Mielenz, Steve Nellis and Richard Stultz—by Kiwanis Club members for these and other outstanding contributions he has made to class and community.

D.A.R. Award

Shirley Hawkins

Quiet and unassuming, Shirley Hawkins performed her many duties with conscientious ease. As president of Pep Club she supervised the many services they offered to the school. Because of her presidency of a service club, Shirley, along with eleven other candidates, became eligible for the D.A.R. award. All senior girls then voted on the twelve, narrowing the competition to three. From the three—Shirley, Valerie Watson, and Betty Kay Thompson—the faculty selected Shirley to receive the Good Citizenship Award.

Shirley contributed to several clubs, serving as All-State International Relations secretary and Inter-Club Council representative from that club. Even though Student Council required a great deal of time, she maintained good grades, earning membership in Triple S. Shirley's talents as a violinist were displayed in Concert and All-City Orchestras.

Selection of Rebel Rousers

Since it is impossible for the large faculty of South High School to know each member of the senior class, they must vote for the twenty-nine seniors who are representative of the outstanding individuals of the class of 1960. Although there are many who have made excellent contributions in academics, sports and club work, the seniors pictured on the following pages were chosen because of their special influence on classmates. By their character and personality these leaders have helped others to maintain Southern spirit and high academic standards in both class and school.

Carole Auer
Rebel Rouser

Carole, as Editor of the Johnny Reb, combined her original ideas and special ability as an efficient organizer to lead a staff of twenty-five in the production of the yearbook. She worked long hours to solve difficult problems and to complete small details. Even though Annual required a great deal of her time, she was an able secretary and I.C.C. representative of Art Club and a member of Triple S. When not studying to maintain her almost A average, Carole skied with Ski Club companions on the slopes.

Don Bross
Rebel Rouser

"Fight!" was the frequently heard cry of Don, who was one of South's most exuberant cheerleaders. When not cheering at intramural sports activities, Don could be seen practicing on the tennis courts with fellow teammates. Don, who ranks as a major in R.O.T.C., participated in Chess Club and Spanish Club, served as president of I.C.C. and was elected Supreme Court Justice at Boy's State.

Bonnie Erickson
Rebel Rouser

Because of her infectious enthusiasm and initiative, Bonnie has been a vital participant in Class Councils and Student Council where she represented the senior class. Assistant Editor of the Johnny Reb and Tri-Hi-Y vice-president were other offices which Bonnie so ably filled. When not busy with these activities, she worked at I.C.C., Triple S, or played on ski slopes with fellow Ski Club members.

Jackie Goff
Rebel Rouser

Jacklynn, known to all her friends as Jackie, was a spirited member of Pep Club. Hoping to become a teacher, she was an enthusiastic worker in Future Teachers of America, and attained a good average and membership in Triple S. Jackie was always a welcome addition to any group. Both Tri-Hi-Y and Ski Club were activities which she energetically supported.

Carmen Hansen
Rebel Rouser

Carmen used her creative writing ability for the enjoyment of South students and Folio Leaves members. Active participation on script committees for Purple and White Day, "Colorado Panorama" and "Going Places" was only one of the contributions she made to South. Much of Carmen's poetry was published in the Confederate, and she won two national prizes with her essays. A straight-A Triple S member, Carmen especially enjoyed her contribution to Rebel spirit by cheering a favorite player of 6'6".

John Leingang
Rebel Rouser

John, better known as Jack, was chosen All-City second-team guard after excellent performances on the field at South. These activities earned him a membership in "S" Club and several letter bars on his sweater. Jack, just short of a straight-A average, was a member of Triple S, president of Key Club and was an able delegate to Boys' State. By his participation in these varied areas of high school life—scholarship, athletics, service and leadership—Jack was one of the top contributors to South.

Robin Morris
Rebel Rouser

Vivacious and charming with her slight southern accent, Robin was one of South's peppiest cheerleaders. It is no surprise that Robin was chosen to serve on class councils, as sophomore class secretary and on Student Council. Members all agree that Robin was a delightful addition to R.O.T.C., Southern Masqueraders and Pep Club. She ascended the Senior Prom throne as Queen Robin to reign with grace, poise and beauty over graduation activities.

Steve Nellis
Rebel Rouser

Steve had a varied record of high-school activities combined with a good academic standing. Contrary to the frequently voiced opinion that athletes are not good students, he maintained a better than 3.8 average. President of Triple S and an All-City, All State tackle, Steve also excelled in wrestling, track and skiing, where he earned several honors. He also served on class councils and was corresponding secretary of Key Club.

The new emphasis on advanced scientific knowledge depends upon the talents of such high school students as Stan who has an avid interest in physics and math. In addition to membership in Physics Club and Math Club, he contributed to Latin Club. Bowling with fellow club members did not prevent Stan from earning an almost straight A average for Triple S honors.

Dennis Reitz
Rebel Rouser

The "Music Man" seems to best describe Denny with his clarinet. Denny, a man who should be heard as well as seen, played in All-School Shows, Color Day Shows and Council Capers. An outstanding member of both band and orchestra, Denny's talents did not stop with the clarinet—he was also a member of Concert Choir and a letterman in "S" Club through his three years of achievement in baseball and football.

Senior Memories

Nostalgia . . .

Footprints in the snow deep traced by many feet
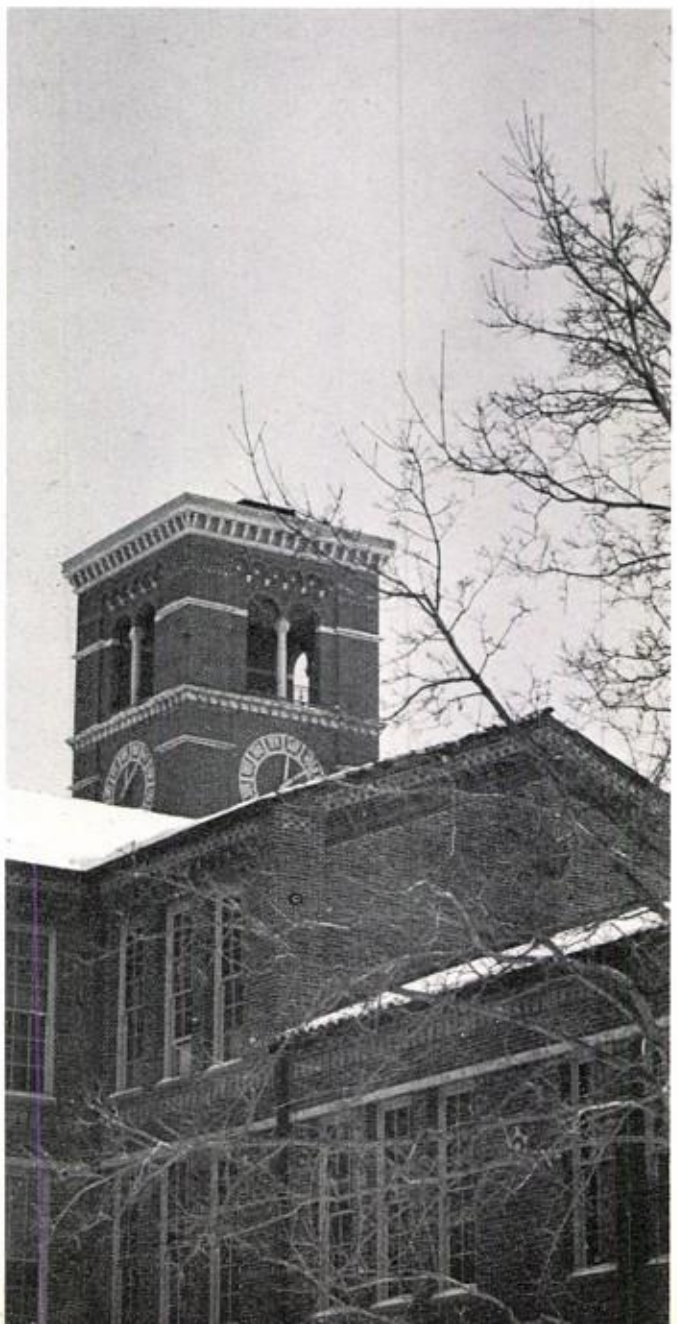
returning
Brick walls
dark-outlined, tall
brushed by frozen branches
wrapped in solitude.

Sunlight
sifting onto warm stairs
mingling with shadows
in the long emptiness of hallways
heavy doors
Stillness
white fields
drifting snow
and echoed sounds of laughter.

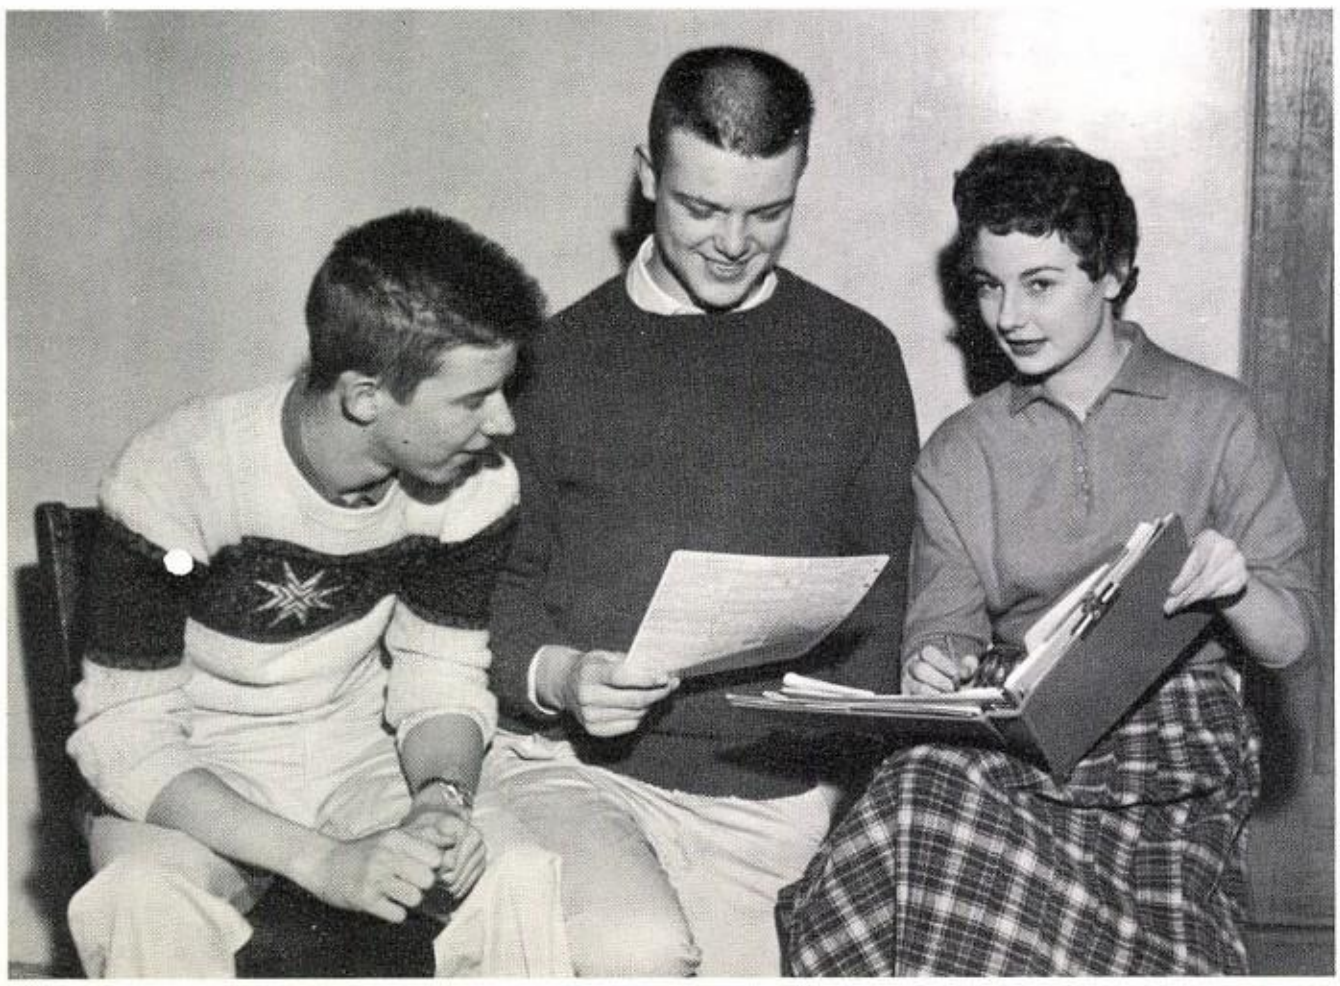
Nostalgia
for that moment come and gone.



As Sophomores

Our helpful and willing sophomore sponsors, Mrs. Ford and Mr. Page, encouraged our class to reach the top. They were always on hand and helped us to a successful start at South.

Eagerly we came to South. Looking forward to new experiences, we were greeted with high school pep rallies, football games, dances and new friends. We enthusiastically produced our class show, "Southern Exposure," participated in our class council and attended our party, "Rustic Rendevous." Selecting our class motto, "Today's Work Means Tomorrow's Success," choosing our class ring and electing our Color Day candidates were part of our activities. It was a year full of excitement and wonder—one which we will always remember.



Bob Bishop, Skip Jump and Robin Morris, sophomore class officers, encouraged many activities during our progressive first year at South.

We Were Eager

The Dixie Darlings performed rhythmically to "Rock-a-bye My Baby" in "Southern Exposure."

Sweet Southern belle Karene McRae, portraying the daughter of a plantation owner, sang "Lindy Lou" in our sophomore show.

Our memorable sophomore party, "Rustic Rendevous," was decorated in autumn colors of rust and yellow.

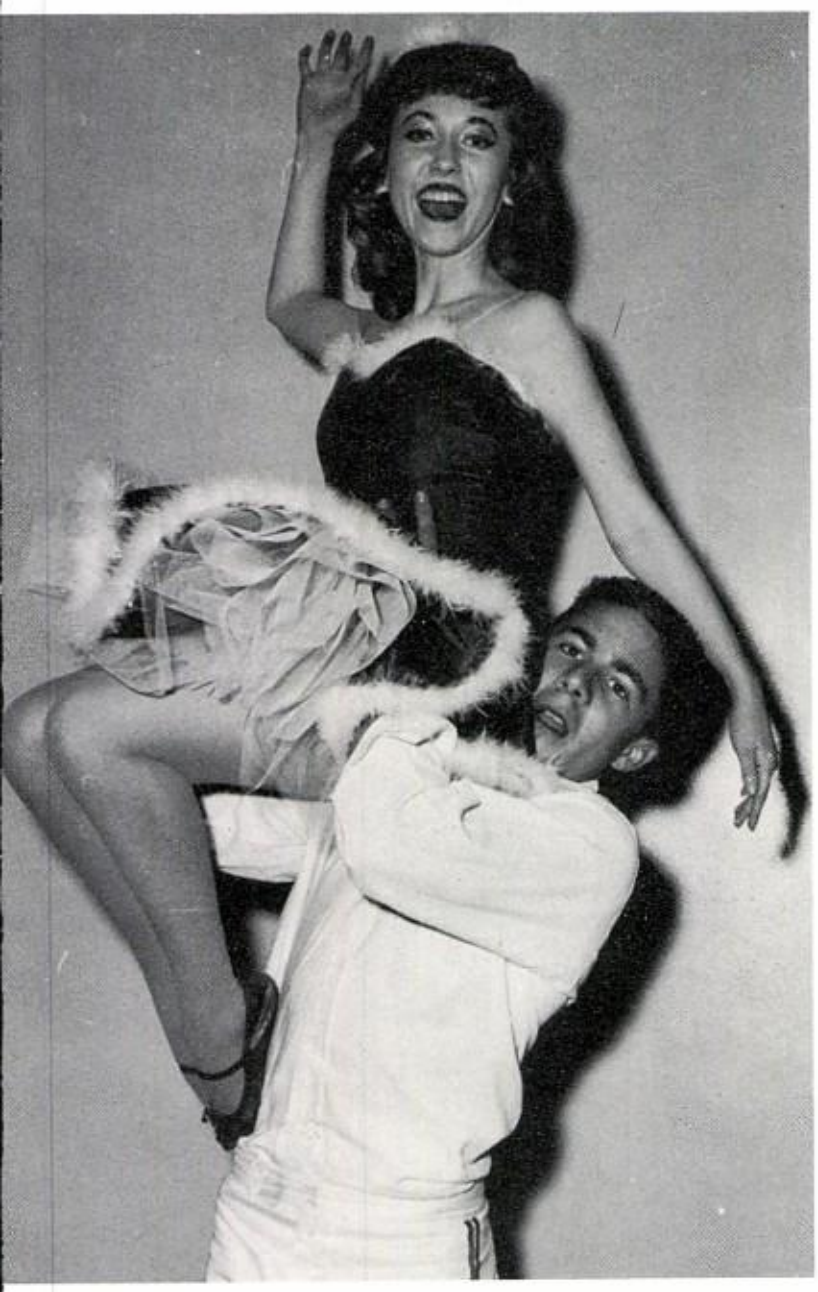
As Juniors

Miss Peres replaced Mrs. Ford as our class sponsor when Mrs. Ford married Mr. Page during our junior year. Miss Peres and Mr. Page, our willing friends, encouraged our class of '60 to many successes.

We returned to South in our junior year with widened interests and renewed enthusiasm. Again we plunged into the work and activities of school life, highlighted by our "Abstract Shadows" prom and the crowning of the prom queen, Sherry Oliner. Our class sent willing and talented participants to the All-School Show and talent assemblies and elected a hard-working council. We recall our junior year as a time of fun and learning.

Bob Bishop, Judy Lay and Kay Hartshorn, junior class officers, enthusiastically worked together with our class to provide leadership for a productive junior year.

We Were Active



Marsha Dyer and Jon Harper, who represented our class in the All-School Show, "Colorado Panorama," danced skillfully.

Sherry Oliner was surprised and delighted when she was crowned queen of our junior prom, "Abstract Shadows," by Bob Bishop.

Our junior Dixieland band's rocking music was always enjoyed when they played in talent assemblies.

As Seniors

Our senior year has been one of responsibility. The other classes have looked to us for leadership in class activities, and we have guided them through their first council meetings and elections, observing the tradition of passing on our knowledge and experience to those who follow us. In our clubs and organizations we have helped to establish patterns and purposes that will help future members.

Our cheerleaders, full of energy and enthusiasm, furthered school spirit at all athletic events. These lively seniors were Beryl Hingley, Judy Lay, Gary Taylor, John Kennedy, Don Bross, Robin Morris and Sherry Oliner.

Throughout our senior year the student body officers—Bob Bishop, Kay Hartshorn, Dave Leornard and Cheryl Sevier—worked for the student body and ably guided the student council in its activities.

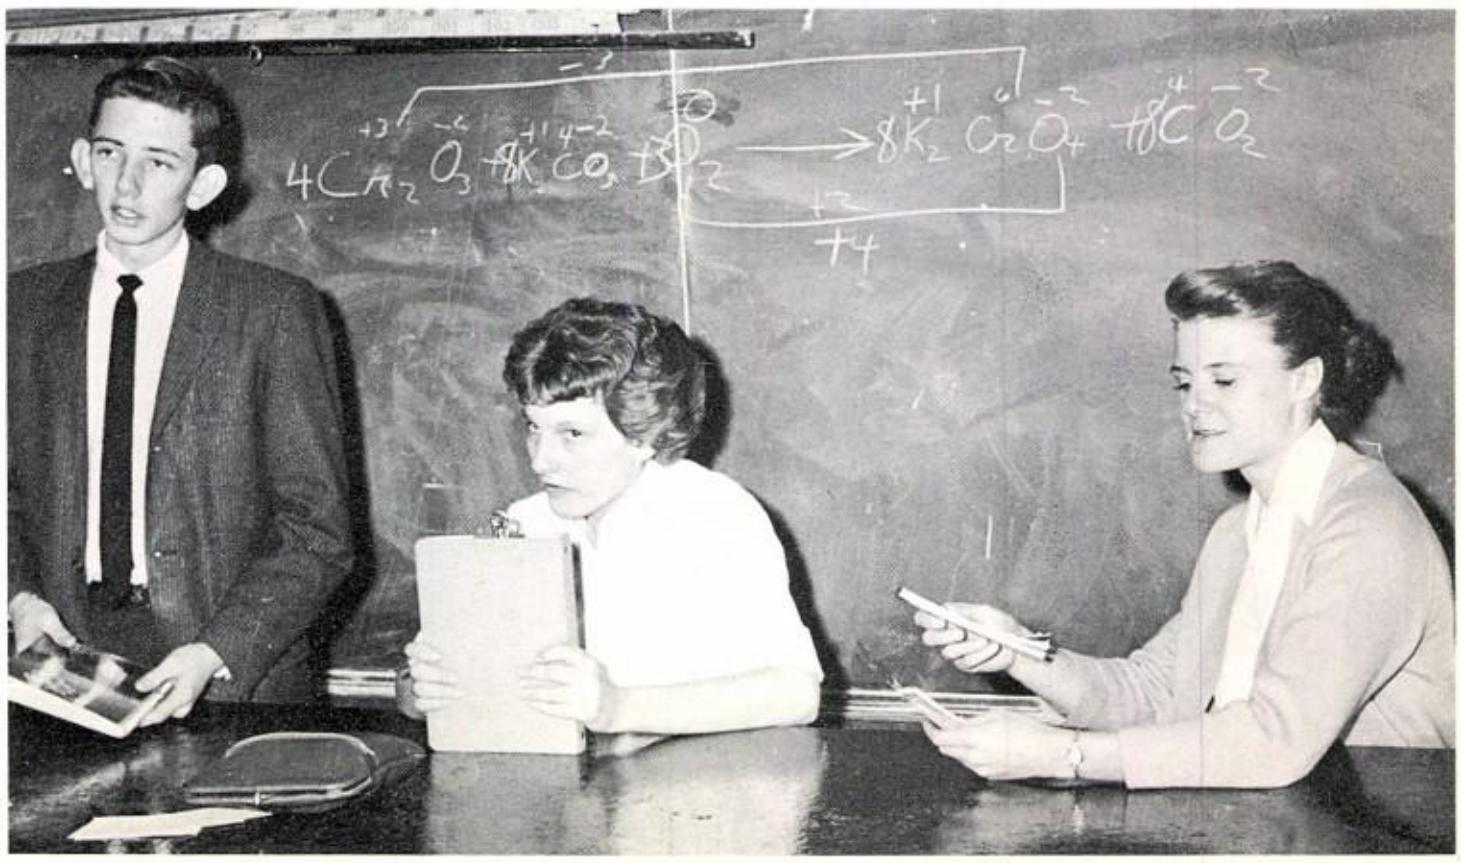
We Were Leaders

The senior Honorary Cadets, who have capably served the R.O.T.C., were elected in their sophomore year. They are Sandy Moritz, Mimi Jones, Carol Santi, Robin Morris, Kathie Curtis, Sharon Thompson and Penny Valdez.

Karen Keeton, Marsha Dyer and Sherry Granzow, South's Girls' State representatives, took an active part in discussions, assemblies and social activities during the week of the conference.



Our senior class officers, Randy Phelps, Lou Anne Hall and Julee Hayes, skillfully led our class of '60 and helped to create class spirit.

Senior prom royalty, Ruth Ann Robertson, Robin Morris and Mary Bliss reigned majestically over "Reverie" in the grand ballroom of the new Hilton Hotel.

Doug Bragg and Val Watson, senior prom co-chairmen, directed all committees through the weeks of preparation which produced the elegance of "Reverie."

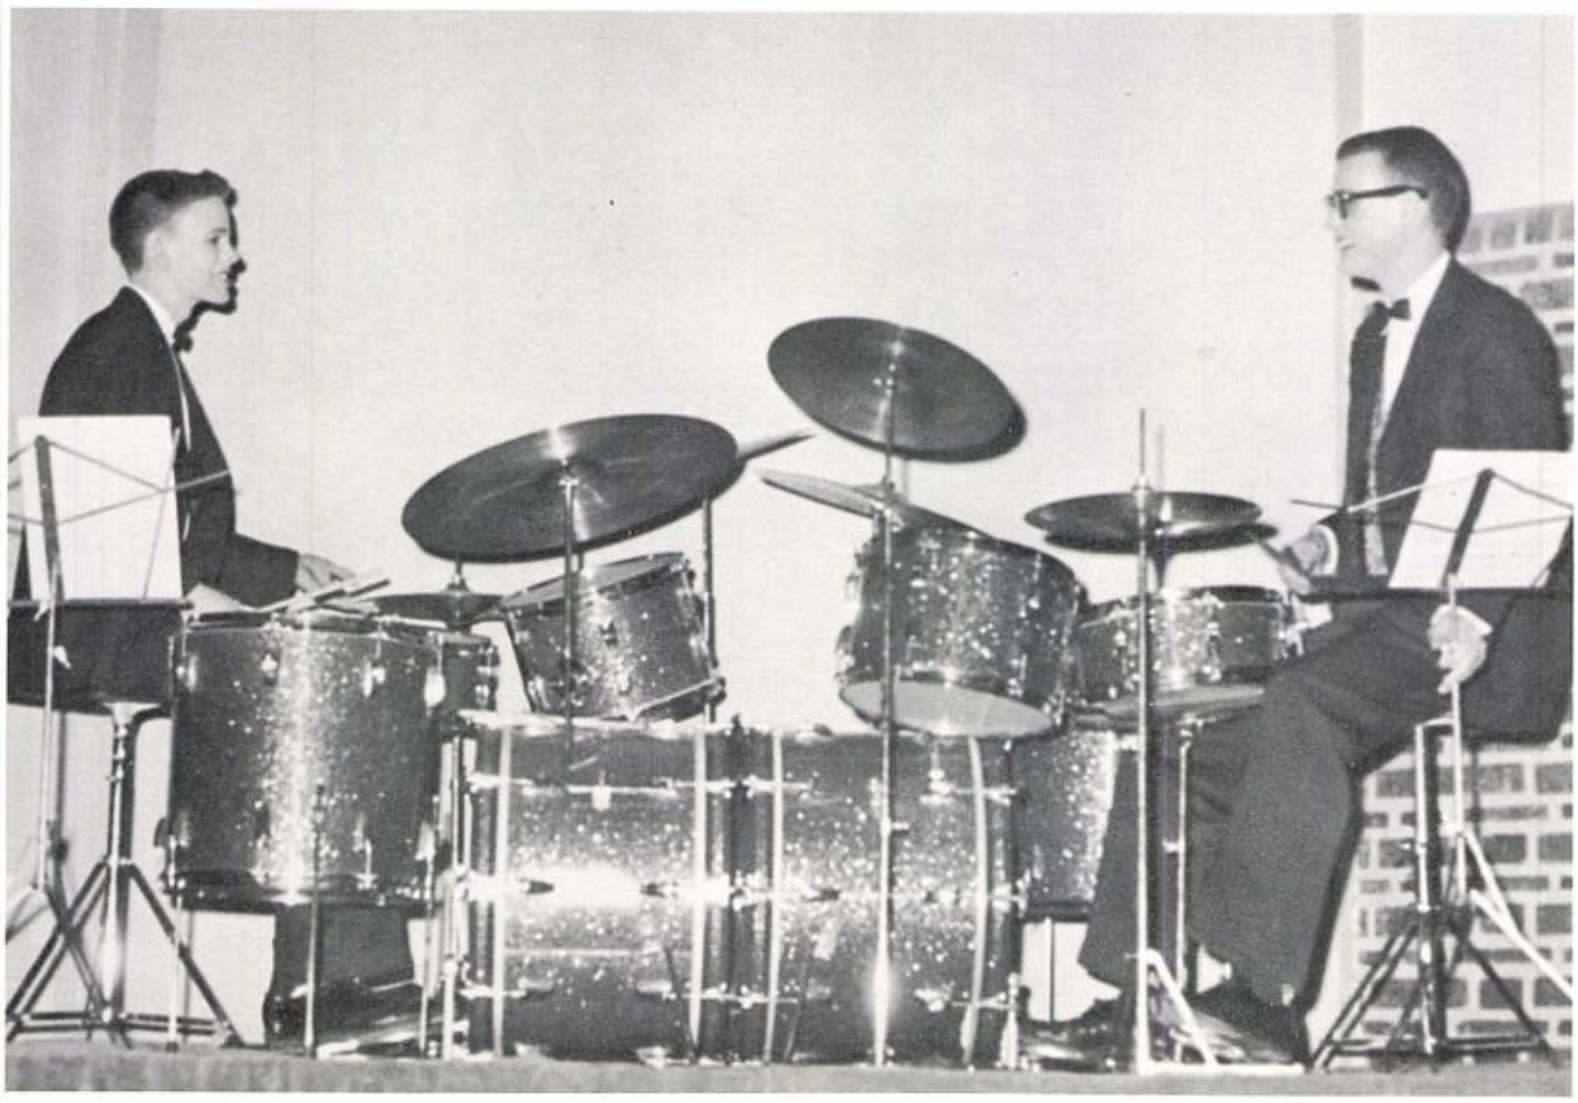
Memories Remain

As seniors we pause with pride and satisfaction, looking back over our three years of accomplishment. Members of our senior class have made outstanding contributions in athletics, speech, art, music and science. We cherish the memories of our active participation and leadership in the All-School Show, "Have Fun, Will Travel," and of the elegance of our senior prom.

The experience of our class, the class of '60, will remain with us, constant and timeless in our hearts and minds, adding to the years ahead. As we go our separate ways and begin a new phase of life away from South, we recall our motto, "Today's Work Means Tomorrow's Success." We contemplate new horizons with the knowledge and confidence we have gained together.

The terrific trio, Sandy Moritz, Val Watson and Grace Jacoby, harmonized to "Once in Love With Amy" at the All-School Show.



Bill Werner and Bob Waddell, "The Drumsticks," captivated the All-School Show audience with their rhythmic rendition of " 'S Wonderful."

In Memoriam

Nancy Davidson
Wayne Holland
Miss Ruth Ringland

Even in the midst of winter comes a thaw, a change—
and the ice melting on the lake promises warmth and sunlight to follow.

Dear Dave —

Well, its been four years now hasn't it? — And for one whole year I had a terrible crush on you! — That was ninth grade and I was just crazy about you — Right now I think you're just about the swellest guy I've ever known and with any encouragement at all, I could revert to an old, old habit — But I sincerely hope that you and I can remain good friends for a long, long time — Best of lucks to the nicest boy I've ever known —
